Auditor's Transmittal

The Honorable Josh Stein, Governor
The Honorable Phil Berger, President Pro Tempore
The Honorable Destin Hall, Speaker of the House
Honorable Members of the North Carolina General Assembly

To all:

Last year, the North Carolina General Assembly passed, and the Governor signed into law, legislation establishing the Division of Accountability, Value, and Efficiency (DAVE) within the North Carolina Office of the State Auditor. I said at the time that our team would be fully on board with this initiative, that we will take a data-driven approach in our evaluation, and that our goal is to make sure the people of North Carolina are served in an efficient and effective way.

With the resources provided to the State Auditor's Office, DAVE has completed its first audit focused on long-term state vacancies and lapsed salaries among state agencies in North Carolina. Recommendations in this audit include consideration of vacant position elimination as well as increased investment in pay for particular positions that can provide a positive return on investment.

For this audit, DAVE evaluated 46 state agencies including departments, offices, boards, and commissions. Public universities and community colleges submitted information, but those will be covered in future reports. Like any audit, this information represents a snapshot in time and presents figures that are subject to change, as vacant positions have been filled or eliminated since the audit began. For example, since the passage of the DAVE Act, agencies across North Carolina filled as many as 13% of the long-term vacant positions in state agencies. Nonetheless, this audit presents impactful information that stands as a useful tool for policymakers in the budgeting process moving forward.

The attached audit is also supplemented by a dashboard created by our team at the State Auditor's Office which details our audit findings. As a team, we will be updating that dashboard periodically to give the public and policymakers an up-to-date view.

The General Assembly asked our team to look at long-term state vacancies, defined as any position vacant for at least six months as of August 6, 2025. At the point of time in which the data was collected and analyzed, our audit found there to be 8,845 long-term state vacancies among the agencies evaluated. The most common reason given for the vacancies was low compensation, followed by slow administrative processes.

We were also asked to calculate the total lapsed salary generated by long-term vacancies. As defined by the Office of State Budget and Management, an executive branch agency under the Governor, lapsed salary is the dollar amount not expended for salary during the period in which a position is vacant.

DAVE used data provided by individual agencies, the Integrated HR/Payroll System (BEACON), and the Office of State Budget and Management to determine that the existence of 8,845 long-term state vacancies generated a total of $1.04 billion in lapsed salary. This number reflects the budgeted dollars as defined by the budget office. Funding for these vacant positions comes from a mix of sources which include: state appropriations, specific agency-generated receipts, and federal funding and grants.

To be clear, not all of the $1.04 billion represents actual dollars that are or were available to be used by state agencies for purposes other than salaries and benefits. Different funding sources have different strings attached to them. However, many of these positions are funded by state appropriations and receipts, and those dollars can be used by agencies for other purposes. This exercise has provided new transparency to the vacancies across state government regardless of how those positions are characterized.

A key point to be made is that a vacant position is, in fact, vacant. Elimination of a position or a reallocation of positions across a given agency or agencies does not represent the elimination of a position currently filled by a state civil servant.

One of the audit recommendations to policymakers is to consider the elimination of positions that meet certain defined criteria. There are many criteria which can be applied toward cost-savings.

For example, elimination of positions vacant for five years or more that do not include federally funded or unfunded placeholder positions would cut 140 job vacancies, and result in an estimated $1.9 million in direct state appropriations savings and allow for the potential reallocation of $4.5 million in receipts. In this case, the money from receipt generation wouldn’t be tied to the positions that have been vacant for five years, providing for greater budget veracity among state agencies.

In another scenario, eliminating positions vacant for one year or more would cut 4,514 job vacancies, and create an estimated $139 million in state appropriations savings and allow for the potential reallocation of $79 million in receipts.

Again, all nine of the criteria listed in the report regarding elimination considerations do not include federal funds or known unfunded positions, and each criteria have certain caveats which are listed in the full audit.

However, we did not only focus on areas where government could be cut. DAVE also found that uncompetitive pay for correctional officers, nursing assistants, registered nurses, licensed practical nurses, and youth counselors contributes to long-term vacancies in the Department of Adult Correction, the Department of Health and Human Services, and the Department of Public Safety. Additionally, DAVE found that the State Highway Patrol has nationally low starting salaries and the agency keeps positions vacant to make fuel purchases and respond to other vehicle needs.

A mixed bag approach, for example, could be to eliminate positions that have been vacant for three or more years, while preserving long-term vacant correctional officers, nursing assistants, registered nurses, licensed practical nurses, youth counselors, and State Highway Patrol positions. This scenario would save an estimated $11.2 million in state appropriations, and allow for optional redistribution of savings back to those positions, back to taxpayers, or wherever deemed appropriate by policymakers.

We also made other recommendations regarding the tracking of hiring and vacancies, administrative delays, and transparency.

This audit is the product of work by the professional career staff of the State Auditor's Office. During the course of the evaluation, we were in constant contact with state agencies, allowing for feedback and responses to be incorporated into the final product.

I want to thank our team for their work and the state agencies for their cooperation as we completed this audit, and look forward to future work by the Division of Accountability, Value and Efficiency.

Respectfully submitted,

Dave Boliek
State Auditor

Executive Summary

The Office of the State Auditor (OSA) has completed an audit in accordance with Chapter 147, Article 5A of the North Carolina General Statutes that analyzed long-term vacancies[1] and associated lapsed salaries across State agencies.[2]

Section 2E.2 of Session Law 2025-89 (the DAVE Act) established the Division of Accountability, Value, and Efficiency (DAVE) within OSA to assess the continued need for each State agency and the vacant positions within each State agency. To conduct this assessment, State agencies were required to provide OSA (1) an explanation of how the State agency utilizes public monies to execute its powers and duties under law; and (2) a description of all positions within that State agency that have remained vacant for six months or more. See Section 2E.2.(c). OSA was required to report the results of this assessment to the General Assembly. See Section 2E.2.(e).

Lapsed salary is the dollar amount not expended for salary and associated benefits (social security, retirement, longevity, and medical insurance contributions) during the period in which a position is vacant within the course of the fiscal year because of the employee's separation, reassignment, leave, or unpaid leave of absence. Lapsed salary can only be used for one-time, non-recurring expenditures. These funds may not be used to establish new permanent positions or to raise the salary of existing employees.[3]

Audit Objective

The objective of this audit was to analyze long-term vacancies and associated lapsed salaries across State agencies. Specifically, this audit:

1. Identified all positions that have remained vacant for six months or more as of August 6, 2025, including:
   - The total number of positions vacant over this period,
   - The length of the vacancies, and
   - Whether these vacancies were posted[4] and received any applications.
2. Identified the amount of lapsed salary generated from long-term vacancies, including:
   - The amount of lapsed salary generated per year and
   - The total amount of lapsed salary generated since the positions' original vacancy date.

[1] Defined as positions within a State agency that have remained vacant for six months or more as of August 6, 2025.

[2] State agency is defined by N.C.G.S. § 143C-1-1(d)(24) as "[a] unit of the executive, legislative, or judicial branch of State government, such as a department, an institution, a division, a commission, a board, a council, or The University of North Carolina." Universities and community colleges were not included in the scope of this audit report. An analysis of both university and community college long-term vacancies and lapsed salaries will be released in subsequent reports. Additionally, not all board and commissions were included in OSA's analysis. See Appendix A for the full list of State agencies included in the scope of this audit.

[4] Refers to the official advertisement of a job vacancy to attract applicants.

3. Identified the reasons, according to each State agency, for the length of their long-term vacancies.

4. Provided recommendations:

   - To improve the transparency and accuracy of reporting long-term vacancies, associated generated lapsed salaries, and the use of lapsed salaries by State agencies; and

   - For positions that could be eliminated based on long-term vacancy analysis.

What We Found

OSA has published an online interactive dashboard with data from this report, viewable here.

As of August 6, 2025, North Carolina State agencies reported a total of 8,845 full-time equivalent (FTE) long-term vacancies. If these vacancies remained vacant for an entire fiscal year, they would generate $482 million of lapsed salary.[5] Taken together, this constitutes 11% of the State's workforce and 1.6% of the State's budget, which was $30.8 billion in State fiscal year (SFY) 2025.[6] As of July 31, 2025, the North Carolina General Assembly allocated $4.7 billion to State employees' salaries.[7] Accordingly, the lapsed salaries associated with long-term vacancies represent 16.6% of the total amount budgeted for State employee salaries.

[5] For the $1.04 billion generated in lapsed salaries, $458 million was State appropriations, $251 million was receipts, $55 million was highway funds, and $203 million was from unfunded placeholder positions.

Figure 1. Percent of State agency positions vacant less than six months (short-term), six months or more (long-term),[8] or are filled.[9]

This report includes a summary of reported State agency long-term vacancy and associated lapsed salary data along ten key areas and offers six recommendations based on the auditors' findings. Among them, auditor analysis found that 16 State agencies (35%) have long-term vacancy rates above 5%. However, between the passing of the DAVE Act and the data collection deadline for the State agencies, 13% of long-term vacancies have been filled. Additionally, 5% were reclassified and 22% were never posted, while only 9% have been or are planned to be abolished.

This report also includes an analysis of job positions most affected by substandard compensation, the state agencies' explanations of long-term vacancies, and provides recommendations on how to distribute lapsed salaries to raise their wages.

[8] Long-term vacancy data in Figure 1 is as of August 6, 2025.
[9] Short-term vacancy and filled position data in Figure 1 is as of July 31, 2025.

Ten key findings from the audit included:

- Long-term vacancies constitute 11% of the State agency workforce. North Carolina State agencies have 79,813 total positions accounting for $4.7 billion worth of salaries as of July 31, 2025.[10] As of July 31, 2025, State agencies reported that 14,366 (18%) of total positions were vacant. Of this amount, 8,845 (62%) positions have been vacant for six months or longer.[11]

  By comparing the total employment of State agencies with the number of long-term vacancies identified in the Integrated HR/Payroll System (BEACON), OSA identified that 16 State agencies (35%) have a long-term vacancy rate over 5%.[12] These State agencies reported facing challenges in the timeliness of their hiring process, potentially due to slow administrative processes, uncertain funding, or low salaries that attracted unqualified applicants. The specific reasons that each of these State agencies have a long-term vacancy rate greater than 5% are outlined in the following sections.

See pages 6 through 11 for a more detailed analysis.

- 13% of long-term vacancies were filled between August 6 and October 1, 2025. Twelve State agencies (32%) filled over 10% of their long-term vacancies between August 6 and October 1, 2025. The Department of Natural & Cultural Resources filled the most, filling 64 of 115 (56%) of its long-term vacancies.[13]

  See pages 11 through 16 for a more detailed analysis.

- 9% of long-term vacancies were planned for elimination between August 6 and October 1, 2025. Six State agencies (16%) planned to eliminate over 10% of their long-term vacancies, with the Department of Insurance planning to eliminate the most at 39% (10 of 26 long-term vacancies). Additionally, eight State agencies (22%) declared less than 2% of their positions for elimination, with the State Highway Patrol declaring the least at 0% (0 of 161 long-term vacancies).[14]

  See pages 16 through 21 for a more detailed analysis.

- Low compensation was the most common cause for long-term vacancies according to State agencies. These responses accounted for 34% of all long-term vacancy explanations. Seven State agencies (19%) described at least 10% of their long-term vacancies as being caused by low compensation, with the Department of Adult Correction (DAC) attributing this to the highest percentage of vacant positions at 61% (1,715 of 2,817 long-term vacancies).[15] DAC, the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS), and the Department of Public Safety (DPS) account for some of the highest number of vacancies and the most affected by low compensation. DHHS attributes 30% of its long-term vacancies to low compensation while DPS attributes 25% to it.

  See pages 21 through 28 for a more detailed analysis.

- Correctional officers, nursing assistants, registered nurses, licensed practical nurses, and youth counselors are paid at a lower rate by the State of North Carolina according to a comparative analysis of other states. DAC, DHHS, and DPS's high percentage of low compensation long-term vacancies primarily come from these five positions. These positions make less than the national average and less than many of the states surrounding North Carolina. These State agencies are constantly recruiting for these positions but because of the low compensation and high qualifications needed for these jobs, filling positions and keeping talent long-term is difficult. According to the Department of Adult Correction, for example, the relatively low salary for these jobs compared to the private sector, difficult working conditions, and long hours can cause employees to leave after just a year or two.

  There could be an opportunity to decrease vacancies and increase employee retention by eliminating some existing long-term vacancies and redistributing the associated lapsed salary to the remaining vacancies and currently filled positions.

[13] State agencies must have had 15 or more long-term vacancies to be included in this statistic.
[14] Ibid.
[15] Ibid.

See pages 28 through 49 for a more detailed analysis.

- Slow administrative processes were the second most common cause of long-term vacancies according to State agencies. State agency responses indicated that 10% of positions were vacant long-term because of internal processes that delayed the posting of the position or some other part of the hiring process.
    - 5% of long-term vacancies were being reclassified into a job or salary range that better aligned with the needs of the State agency.
    - 2% of long-term vacancies were being transferred to a different location or division.
    - 1% of long-term vacancies were caused by a slow human resources process.
    - 4% were caused by "other administrative lags."

  Eleven State agencies (30%) described at least 10% of their long-term vacancies as being caused by administrative lag in some way, with the Department of Revenue (DOR) attributing administrative lag the most. DOR reported that 11 of 18 (61%) of its long-term vacancies[16] were due to administrative lag.[17]

  See pages 49 through 53 for a more detailed analysis.

- 7% of long-term vacancies were due to funding uncertainties or funding cuts according to State agencies.

  See page 53 for a more detailed analysis.

- 22% of long-term vacancies were never posted by State agencies.[18] State agencies have not posted 1,914 of 8,845 (22%) long-term vacancies, signaling a lack of intent to fill these positions and, in some cases, the State agencies' intent to generate lapsed salary. However, there may be legitimate reasons in which positions may not be posted. During our analysis, auditors removed:
    - 278 positions which were planned for elimination,
    - 546 unfunded placeholder positions,[19]
    - 191 positions in the process of being reclassified or transferred, and
    - 166 positions described as purposefully kept vacant due to statutory requirements.[20]

  With those exclusions, 733 positions were never posted without a reason or 8% of [16] State agencies must have had 15 or more long-term vacancies to be included in this statistic.

[17] The Department of Revenue (DOR) has a significant number of long-term vacancies attributed to administrative lag because of the volume of its reclassifications. Reclassification is the formal process for changing a positions classification when its duties, responsibilities, or qualifications shift substantially. DOR is a large State agency with a low vacancy rate because when a position becomes vacant, DOR immediately considers the position for reclassification and then starts the reclassification process or posts the position. Accordingly, DOR's high administrative lag rate is not a cause for concern because of its low vacancy rate.

[18] Agencies did not provide an original posting date for these positions.

[19] Unfunded placeholders are usually federal positions which do not receive funding, but are kept in the Office of State Human Resources' (OSHR) system in case they need to be hired quickly. For example, the Department of Commerce's Division of Employment Security Commission (DES) is made up of unfunded federal positions reserved for an unemployment crisis. Keeping these positions within OSHR's system allows for rapid hiring if the need arises.

[20] For example, N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4) states that if either the House or the Senate of the North Carolina General Assembly propose eliminating positions in their budget proposal, the State agency must keep the position vacant until the State budget is passed. It is unclear exactly how many positions in the dataset N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4) applies to, so auditors removed vacancies that explicitly mention a statute in their vacancy explanation.

all long-term vacancies.

See pages 54 through 58 for a more detailed analysis.

- 9% of long-term vacancies are purposefully vacant. State agencies admitted to purposefully keeping 773 of 8,845 (9%) long-term vacancies vacant, largely in an effort to generate lapsed salary to cover operational expenses and other costs. Seven State agencies (15%) purposefully did not fill more than 5% of their long-term vacancies. The State Highway Patrol purposefully held the most long-term vacancies open at 70% (113 of 161 long-term vacancies).

  See pages 58 through 62 for a more detailed analysis.

- 10% of long-term vacancies were not explained by State agencies. State agencies did not explain the reason for 897 of 8,845 (10%) long-term vacancies. Despite clear directions provided by OSA and being statutorily required to provide OSA explanations for the length of their long-term vacancies,[21] seven State agencies (15%) had a "no response" rate of 5% or more for their long-term vacancies. Most notably, the Governor Morehead School for the Blind did not provide explanations for 28% of its long-term vacancies (5 of 18 long-term vacancies).[22]

  See pages 62 through 66 for a more detailed analysis.

Recommendations

- State agency budgets should accurately reflect the actual expenditures necessary to deliver services and fulfill statutory responsibilities to North Carolina. When a State agency decides to stop hiring for a vacant position, that position should be evaluated for reclassification or abolishment. State agencies should "true up" their budget by detailing specific needs to the legislature to ensure essential services are maintained.[23] For example, State agencies should budget for temporary workers and overtime pay where appropriate, but they should also consider increasing the salaries through reclassification. If lapsed salaries remain after all long-term vacancies have been abolished or reclassified and any associated pay raises are covered, the State agency may use those funds as permitted by N.C.G.S. § 143C-6-9(a) until the next budget cycle. In subsequent budget request, the State agency should include the amount of lapsed salaries and their current uses. This approach keeps expenditures aligned with approved budgets and strengthens oversight and accountability.

- Tracking and reporting lapsed salary usage should be improved. Pursuant to N.C.G.S. § 143C-6-9(c), State agencies are required to report the use of lapsed salary funds at the end of each fiscal year to the Office of State Budget and Management (OSBM), including the total amount of accrued lapsed salary funds by funding source, the total number of full-time equivalent positions compromising the lapsed salary funds, [21] Session Law 2025-89, Section 2E.2.(c)(2).

[22] Please note that the Governor Morehead School for the Blind was recently broken out as its own State agency and has been working to staff its human resources department. Therefore, the School's lack of hiring information is not a cause for concern. OSA does not recommend eliminating any positions from any special education State agency in North Carolina.

[23] "Truing up" a budget means aligning an agency's proposed expenditures with its actual expenditures. Thus, rather than requesting personal services appropriations from the General Assembly and then using vacant positions' lapsed salaries to meet the agency's operational needs, State agencies should either use the appropriations for personal services or request operational appropriations from the legislature.

the total expenditure of lapsed salaries by purpose, and the legal authorization to expend lapsed salary funds. However, most State agencies only track the account where funds are moved, as opposed to actual expenditures or use of the lapsed salary funds. This lack of detailed tracking makes it difficult for the executive branch to evaluate how effectively agencies manage these funds. It also limits the legislative branch's ability to assess whether appropriations are being used as intended.

State agencies that closely track the use of their lapsed salary funds often hinder the effectiveness of such tracking because their lapsed salary reports are often submitted to OSBM long after the statutory deadline has passed. Such untimely responses prevent expenditures from being reevaluated in real time. For instance, DHHS has averaged 296 days late on its lapsed salary report since 2017.[24] Similar delays make lapsed salary reports ineffective for real-time decision-making. Diligent, detailed tracking would give State agencies the ability to both make tough, accurate budget decisions in real-time and to submit a report to OSBM soon after the fiscal year ends.

- Any position that meets certain criteria should be eliminated. While the use of lapsed salaries has become a part of the funding necessary to maintain the vital functions of State agencies, the elimination of certain long-term vacant positions that meet the criteria listed below should be considered. There are many criteria by which long-term vacant positions can be identified and eliminated. Regardless of what criteria are chosen, it is important to consider whether a State agency should receive the same amount of appropriations from the General Assembly after such positions are eliminated as it did prior to their elimination.

  It is also worth noting that the criteria listed below may not affect all State agencies equally and exceptions to the recommendations contained herein are included and noted in the appendices. Each recommendation reflects the number of positions within the 8,845 long-term vacancies that satisfy the applicable criteria for elimination. The recommendations provided below are listed in ascending order of least to most disruptive to the State agencies, as was subjectively determined by OSA. A full list of the impacted position numbers is included in appendices B through J of this report. Please note that the list was accurate as of October 1, 2025, and that some vacancies may have been filled, reclassified, or eliminated since then. Positions undergoing active litigation should not be eliminated, as reinstatement is a primary remedy when an employee is found to have been improperly separated.

lapsed salaries to meet their operational needs.

Notable exceptions to this category include positions from the Department of Agriculture & Consumer Services, State Bar, State Lottery Commission, and the Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf. In anticipation of rapid hiring needs, these State agencies respectively created but have not and will not post them until the need arises.

See Appendix B for the full list of positions.

b. Eliminate positions vacant for five years or more.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 140 | $6,356,095 | $1,859,142 | $4,496,953 |

140 positions have been vacant for five years or more. Notable exceptions to this criterion include positions which were filled between August 6, 2025, the date the DAVE Act was signed into law, and October 1, the date OSA's data collection process ended pursuant to Section 2E.2.(c) of Session Law 2025-89. Filled positions have already been removed from all recommendation elimination categories, but it is important to check for positions that were filled after October 1 but before the passage of any legislation that eliminates long-term vacancies positions to avoid incidentally eliminating filled positions. Other notable exceptions to this criterion include unfunded placeholders, largely from the Department of Commerce's Division of Employment Security Commission and from the Eastern North Carolina School for the Blind. This criterion includes positions undergoing reclassification, transferring of facilities or divisions, or undergoing elimination. Some might be held under N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4) because a proposed budget reduction by either house of the North Carolina General Assembly eliminates the position. Regardless of external factors, however, the positions identified in Appendix C have been vacant for at least five years.

See Appendix C for the full list of positions.

c. Eliminate positions vacant for three years or more.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1,159 | $55,597,580 | $27,851,246 | $27,746,334 |

1,159 positions have been vacant for three years or more. Notable exceptions to this criterion include positions which were filled between August 6, 2025, the date the DAVE Act was signed into law, and October 1, the date OSA's data collection process ended pursuant to Section 2E.2.(c) of Session Law 2025-89. Filled positions have already been removed from all recommendation elimination categories, but it is important to check for positions that were filled after October 1 but before the passage of any legislation that eliminates long-term vacancies to avoid incidentally eliminating filled positions. Other notable exceptions to this criterion include unfunded placeholders, largely from the Department of Commerce's Division of Employment Security Commission, and positions from the Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf and the Governor Morehead School for the Blind. This criterion includes positions undergoing reclassification, transferring of facilities or divisions, or undergoing elimination. Some might be held under N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4) because a proposed budget reduction by either house of the North Carolina General Assembly eliminates the position. Regardless of external factors, however, these positions have been vacant for at least three years.

See Appendix D for the full list of positions.

d. Eliminate positions vacant for two years or more.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2,554 | $120,873,358 | $69,686,573 | $51,186,785 |

2,554 positions have been vacant for two years or more. Notable exceptions to this criterion include positions which were filled between August 6, 2025, the passing of the DAVE Act, and October 1, when the data collection process ended. Filled positions have already been removed from all recommendation elimination categories, but it is important to check for positions that have been filled after October 1 until any legislation eliminating positions to avoid eliminating a currently filled position. Other notable exceptions to this criterion include unfunded placeholders, largely from the Department of Commerce and its Division of Employment Security Commission, and positions from the Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf, North Carolina School for the Deaf, and the Governor Morehead School for the Blind. This criterion includes positions undergoing reclassification, transferring of facilities or divisions, or undergoing elimination. Some might be held under N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4) because a proposed budget reduction by either house of the North Carolina General Assembly eliminates the position. Regardless of external factors, however, these positions have been vacant for at least two years.

See Appendix E for the full list of positions.

e. Eliminate positions never posted[25] and unexplained.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 55 | $2,303,047 | $897,324 | $1,405,723 |

by their State agency. Reasons given by the State agency might have ranged to “Active Hiring” or “Former employee resigned.” However, these positions have never been posted.

See Appendix F for the full list of positions.

f. Eliminate positions with funding concerns that were never posted.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 135 | $6,147,855 | $3,988,689 | $2,159,166 |

135 long-term vacancies were never posted[26] by their State agency, with the State agency citing a funding concern as the reason. Some of these vacancies are statutorily required to remain unfilled in accordance with N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4), which states that if either the North Carolina House or Senate included such positions for elimination in their proposed budget reductions, the State agency must hold them open until a budget is passed.

See Appendix G for the full list of positions.

g. Eliminate positions vacant for one year or more with no applicants.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 239 | $15,668,031 | $5,125,013 | $10,543,018 |

239 long-term vacancies have been vacant for at least one year and regardless of posting status, have received no applications. While effort of some kind to fill these positions may have been shown by the State agencies in question, either the effort was insufficient or the position had responsibilities that were not aligned with salary expectations. These criteria included positions undergoing reclassification, transferring of facilities or divisions, or undergoing elimination. Some might be held under N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4) because a proposed budget reduction by either house of the North Carolina General Assembly eliminates the position. Regardless of external factors, however, these positions have been vacant for at least a year with no response from the labor market.

See Appendix H for the full list of positions.

h. Eliminate unexplained positions.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 738 | $40,597,885 | $23,150,360 | $17,447,525 |

State agencies did not provide OSA a specific reason why these 738 long-term vacancies have remained vacant for at least six months. While several State agencies responded by saying "Active Hiring" or "Former employee resigned," such agencies never described the reason the positions were not filled in less than six months.

See Appendix I for the full list of positions.

i. Eliminate positions vacant for one year or more.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 4,514 | $217,862,794 | $138,597,117 | $79,265,677 |

4,514 long-term vacancies have been vacant for at least one year. Notable exceptions to this criterion include positions which were filled between August 6, 2025, the passing of the DAVE Act, and October 1, when the data collection process ended. Filled positions have already been removed from all recommendation elimination categories, but it is important to check for positions that have been filled after October 1 until any legislation eliminating positions to avoid eliminating a currently filled position.

Other notable exceptions to this criterion include unfunded placeholders, largely from the Department of Commerce and its Division of Employment Security Commission, and positions from the Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf, North Carolina School for the Deaf, and the Governor Morehead School for the Blind. This criterion includes positions undergoing reclassification, transferring of facilities or divisions, or undergoing elimination. Some might be held under N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4) because a proposed budget reduction by either house of the North Carolina General Assembly eliminates the position. Regardless of external factors, however, these positions have been vacant for at least a year.

See Appendix J for the full list of positions.

- North Carolina salaries should be competitive with those offered to similar positions in surrounding states. If a position type shows a high vacancy rate and the State agency has been unable to fill the role despite repeated efforts to do so, the State agency should conduct a comprehensive evaluation of the position relative to comparable roles in surrounding states. This analysis should determine: (1) the optimal number of positions needed to fulfill the agency's mission, (2) the position's elasticity in relation to labor supply and demand, and (3) an appropriate target salary based on market conditions. If the agency's evaluation finds that the position is underpaid, the North Carolina General Assembly should consider appropriating additional funds to address the pay disparity and support competitive compensation.

- Administrative delays in the hiring process can be reduced by increasing accountability and streamlining workflows. State agencies reported that 10% of long-term vacancies occurred due to internal processes that slowed job postings and other hiring steps. To address this, State agencies should identify internal bottlenecks such as prolonged vacancy reclassifications, position transfers, and inefficient human resources procedures. This can be achieved by conducting process mapping from vacancy to onboarding and documenting the time taken at each stage. Comparing actual timelines against established benchmarks will reveal where delays occur. Once bottlenecks are identified, agencies should implement structured timelines for each step, assign clear accountability to responsible staff, and consider automation tools or centralized approval systems to accelerate decision-making.
- Many State agencies should improve their tracking of hiring and vacancies. State agencies failed to explain the reason for 10% of long-term vacancies or 897 in total. When a State agency cannot explain why a position has been vacant for several years, it could be an indication that the State agency does not actively assess its staffing needs or evaluate the continued necessity of positions as they become vacant. Effective vacancy management requires more than recording data. It involves active oversight and analysis to ensure positions are filled in a timely manner and staffing needs are continuously evaluated.

  State agencies should establish clear documentation standards for each stage of the hiring process; implement centralized tracking systems to monitor vacancy status; and create structured timelines for reclassifying, posting, and hiring. For example, the Department of Transportation stated that it maintains detailed records of each position vacancy and adheres to rigorous timelines for each stage of the hiring process.

  To address root causes and implement targeted strategies to reduce long-term vacancies, State agencies must analyze vacancy data. This may be done by regularly categorizing reasons for delays, identifying patterns across departments or job types, and assessing the operational impact of prolonged vacancies. By executing these measures, State agencies ensure accountability and support sound personnel management.

Section 2E.2 of Session Law 2025-89 (the DAVE Act) established the Division of Accountability, Value, and Efficiency (DAVE) within OSA to assess the continued need for each State agency and the vacant positions within each State agency. To conduct this assessment, State agencies were required to provide OSA (1) an explanation of how the State agency utilizes public monies to execute its powers and duties under law, and (2) a description of all positions within that State agency that have remained vacant for six months or more. See Section 2E.2.(c). OSA was required to report the results of this assessment to the General Assembly. See Section 2E.2.(e).

Long-term Vacancies and Lapsed Salaries:

Lapsed salary is the dollar amount not expended for salary and associated benefits (social security, retirement, longevity, and medical insurance contributions) during the period in which a position is vacant within the course of the fiscal year because of the employee's separation, reassignment, leave or unpaid leave of absence. Lapsed salary can only be used for one-time, non-recurring expenditures. These funds may not be used to establish new permanent positions or to raise the salary of existing employees.[27]

N.C.G.S. § 143C-6-9 governs how State agencies use lapsed salaries. Specifically, N.C.G.S. § 143C-6-9(a)–(b) outline that lapsed salaries:

- Can only be used for nonrecurring purposes or line items and
- Cannot be used for private counsel litigation services provided by private counsel.

Several State agencies have specific lapsed salary reporting requirements, including the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) and the Department of Public Safety (DPS). Annually, DHHS is required to submit a report to the Joint Legislative Oversight Committee on Health and Human Services and the Fiscal Research Division that contains the total amount of lapsed salary funds, the number of full-time equivalent positions generating lapsed salaries and their Fund Code, and the purpose for which the Department expended all lapsed salary funds.[28]

State agency positions are primarily funded through three different funding sources: State appropriations,[29] receipts,[30] and the federal government.[31] Other funding sources, like the Highway Fund, also can be used to fund positions in state government, but they do not [28] N.C.G.S. § 120-208.4(b).

[29] State appropriations are allocated by the North Carolina General Assembly to State agencies using money from the State's general fund.

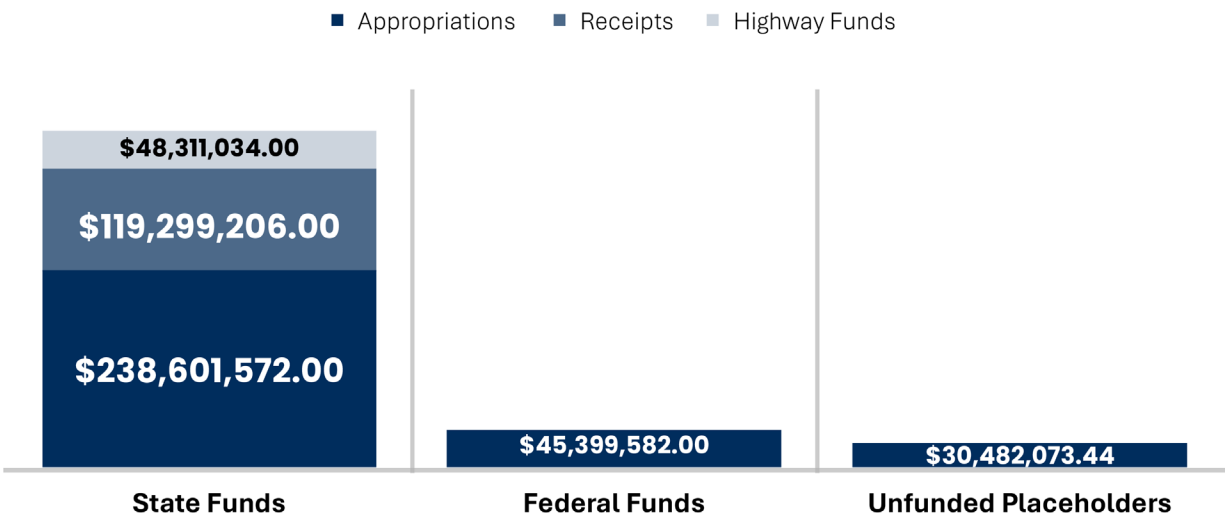

[30] According to N.C.G.S. § 143C-1-1(d)(10), departmental receipts include "[f]ees, licenses, federal funds, grants, fines, penalties, tuition, and other similar collections or credits generated by State agencies in the course of performing their governmental functions that are applied to the cost of a program administered by the State agency or transferred to the Civil Penalty and Forfeiture Fund pursuant to G.S. 115C-457.1, and that are not defined as tax proceeds or nontax revenues. Departmental receipts may include moneys transferred into a fiscal year from a prior fiscal year."

[31] State agencies receive federal funds in the form of block grants, entitlement programs, and specific grants. https://www.osbm.nc.gov/budget/budget-manual/budget-glossary#FederalFunds.

constitute as much funding as the main three.

Understanding funding sources is essential to understanding lapsed salaries because, while all positions generate lapsed salaries for State agencies, not all generate actual funds for State agencies to use. Often, federal funding is tied to the position being filled, so a federally funded vacancy does not generate actual funds for the State agency. Additionally, some positions are partially funded by federal funding and by State appropriations, in which case the position, if left vacant, will only generate part of its yearly salary as actual funds. Throughout this report, funding figures will indicate whether federal dollars are included. This distinction helps the reader understand whether a State agency actually received the funding for a position despite its continued vacancy and whether the General Assembly has authority to reallocate those funds.

Under Section 2E.2.(d) of Session Law 2025-89, the North Carolina General Assembly mandated that OSA assess the long-term vacancies present within every North Carolina State agency. To be included in OSA's analysis, such vacancies must have been at least six months old by August 6, 2025, the date Session Law 2025-89 was signed into law. As noted in the Executive Summary, OSA's review uncovered edge cases where positions in State government have been vacant for over 17 years. In certain instances, these prolonged vacancies generated over $2.5 million in lapsed salary, distorting State agency personnel budgets. However, long-term vacancies have been trending downwards over the past year, decreasing from 10,307 in August 2024 to 8,598 in October 2025, following the trend of all State agency vacancies.[32] OSA also collected long-term vacancy and associated lapsed salary information from North Carolina public universities and community colleges, but those results will be published in a separate report.

[32] B0112: Positions Vacant/Filled Comparison by Count and Pct Report (BOBJ)

Throughout this report, the broad trends OSA identified within the data will be discussed, with qualifying context inserted as needed. For example, when assessing the positions that have been vacant for six months or longer, OSA found that the most common length vacancies have remained unfilled was between six months and four years. However, OSA identified a notable spike in the number of positions that have been vacant for 14 years. While at first glance this anomaly gave OSA cause for concern, auditors determined that most of the positions that have been vacant for 14 years are Career Employment Services Consultants, which are unfunded positions held on reserve by the Department of Commerce's Division of Employment Security Commission in case of an unemployment crisis.

OSA has published an online interactive dashboard with data from this report, viewable here.

Findings and Recommendations

Findings

Long-term vacancies[33] constitute 11% of the State agency workforce.

As of August 6, 2025, the State of North Carolina had 8,845 long-term vacancies. This comprises 11.1% of the total State workforce and has generated $1.04 billion in lapsed salaries.[34]

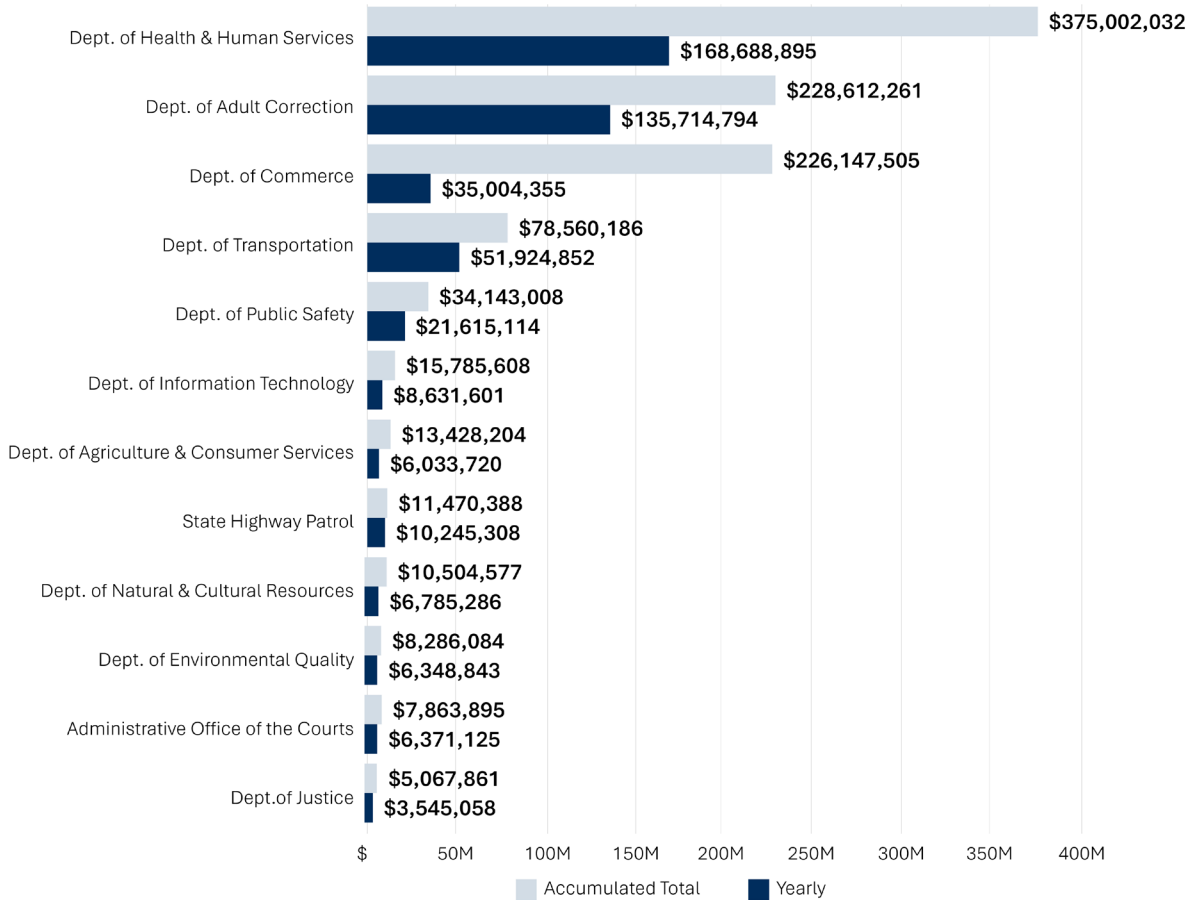

[33] Defined as positions within a State agency that have remained vacant for six months or more as of August 6, 2025.
[34] For the $1.04 billion generated in lapsed salaries, $458 million was State appropriations, $251 million was receipts, $55 million was highway funds, and $203 million was from unfunded placeholder positions.

Figure 6. Total number of positions vacant for at least six months in each State agency

The chart below illustrates the long-term lapsed salary amounts generated by North Carolina State agencies. The yearly lapsed salary provided in dark blue shows the sum of all of the salaries generated by each agency's long-term vacancies as of August 6, 2025. The grey represents the calculated totals of the lapsed salary generated to date by each vacancy.[35] This includes partial salaries for positions vacant less than a year and the total accumulated salary for positions vacant more than a year. These figures reflect total funding, including federal dollars. Because federal funding is typically tied to positions being filled, federally funded vacancies do not generate actual funds for the State agency. As a result, agencies or divisions that rely heavily on federal funding, such as the Department of Commerce's Division of Employment Security Commission, may show lower lapsed salary amounts than the graph indicates in the following table.

16 State agencies that had 15 or more long-term vacancies (76%) stand out because long-term vacancies comprise more than 5% of their workforce. These State agencies are listed below in descending order based on the percentage of positions in their respective workforces that are long-term vacancies and the associated lapsed salary the agencies generate from State appropriations and receipts.

This data as well as more interactive graphs and tables are available on OSA's online dashboard viewable here. Context for the Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf and the Governor Morehead School for the Blind's vacancies are provided below.

The Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf has a 23% Long-Term Vacancy Rate

The Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf has a significant long-term vacancy rate. However, as described in this report, many vacancies have been filled since August 6, 2025, and a significant portion remain in OSHR's system in anticipation of future enrollment increases. Therefore, the Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf's high vacancy rate is not a cause for concern. OSA does not recommend eliminating any positions from any special education State agency in North Carolina.

The Governor Morehead School for the Blind has a 19% Long-Term Vacancy Rate

The Governor Morehead School for the Blind has a significant long-term vacancy rate. However, as described in this report, many vacancies have been filled since August 6, 2025, and a significant portion remain in OSHR's system in anticipation of future enrollment increases. Additionally, the Governor Morehead School for the Blind was recently broken out as its own State agency and has been working to staff its human resources department.[39] Therefore, the Governor Morehead School for the Blind's high vacancy rate is not a cause for concern. OSA does not recommend eliminating any positions from any special education State agency in North Carolina.

The chart above compares the percentage of long-term vacancies at State agencies that have 15 or more long-term vacancies with each State agency's overall vacancy rate. State agencies with long-term vacancies that comprise at least 5% of its workforce are listed in descending order.

13% of long-term vacancies were filled between August 6 and October 1, 2025.

After the DAVE Act passed on August 6, 2025, the number of long-term vacancies in North Carolina State government dropped by 1,181, or 13%, as State agencies worked to "true up" their budgets and properly allocate funds.[40] This wave of hiring allocated $63.4 million in State funds to personal services, eliminating $70.4 million in yearly lapsed salaries.[41]

12 State agencies that had 15 or more long-term vacancies (57%) filled over 10% of those vacancies. These State agencies are listed below in descending order of the percentage of the long-term vacancies they've filled and the associated lapsed salary they generated yearly from state appropriations and receipts.

| State Agency Name | Percent of Long-Term Vacancies Filled | Number of Long-Term Vacancies Filled | State Lapsed Salary Correctly Allocated from Filled Long-Term Vacancies[42] |
|---|---|---|---|
| Dept. of Natural & Cultural Resources | 55.7% | 64/115 | $3,433,734 |
| Governor Morehead School for the Blind | 50% | 9/18 | $500,268 |
| Administrative Office of the Courts[43] | 42.7% | 34/81 | $2,937,097 |
| Dept. of Environmental Quality | 41.0% | 34/83 | $1,578,662 |
| Dept. of Public Safety | 35.7% | 146/409 | $7,074,941 |
| Dept. of Information Technology | 34.5% | 30/87 | $2,914,473 |
| Dept. of Justice | 31.5% | 17/54 | $918,967 |
| State Bureau of Investigation | 25.5% | 13/51 | $962,456 |
| Dept. of Public Instruction | 23.1% | 9/39 | $154,893 |
| Dept. of Agriculture & Consumer Services | 22.2% | 28/126 | $1,319,530 |
| Dept. of Transportation | 20.1% | 170/838 | $396,010 |
| Dept. of Adult Correction | 12.6% | 356/2,817 | $18,329,481 |

[40] "Truing up" a budget means aligning an agency's proposed expenditures with its actual expenditures. Thus, rather than requesting personal services appropriations from the General Assembly and then using the vacant positions' lapsed salaries to meet the agency's operational needs, State agencies should either use the appropriations for personal services or request operational appropriations from the legislature.

[41] Yearly lapsed salaries include federal funding.

[42] Excludes federal funding and highway funds.

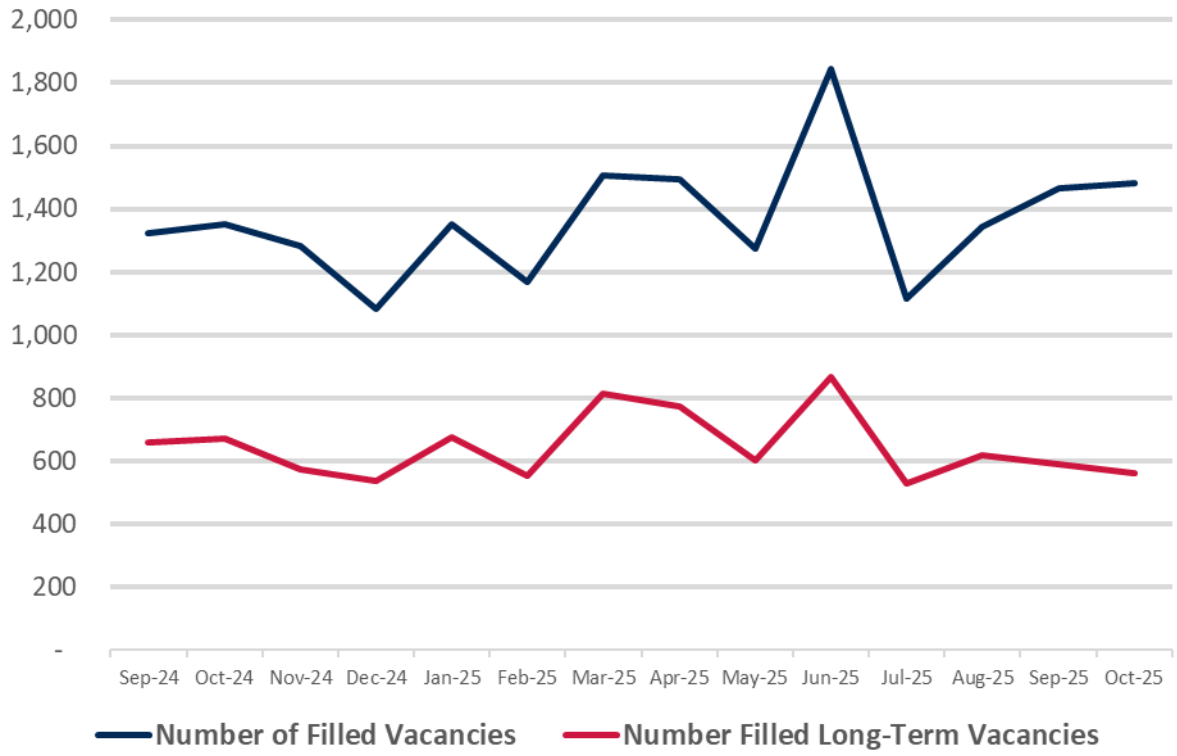

[43] The Administrative Office of the Courts assists with reporting on position figures in local courts and other judicial department agencies which are outside of the authority of AOC.

This data, as well as more interactive graphs and tables, are available at OSA's online dashboard viewable here.

The Number of Long-Term Vacancies Filled Per Month Has Not Increased

After the passing of the DAVE Act on August 6, 2025, auditors were concerned that State agencies would attempt to rapidly fill their long-term vacancies so that they would be cast in a better light in OSA's report. However, data from the Integrated HR/Payroll System (BEACON) shows no change in the number of long-term vacancies filled month over month from August 2024 to October 2025. This could indicate that agencies are still facing significant hiring challenges.

Figure 9. Number of vacancies State agencies have filled per month

Additionally, the number of long-term vacancies has been trending down month over month since September 2024 and October 2025, as State agencies fill positions.

Figure 10. Number of long-term vacancies per month

The Governor Morehead School for the Blind Filled 50% of their Long-Term Vacancies

The Governor Morehead School for the Blind filled a significant number of their long-term vacancies since August 6, 2025. However, because they were recently broken out as their own State agency, they have been working to staff their human resources department. Therefore, their high vacancy fill rate is not a cause for concern.

9% of long-term vacancies were planned for elimination between August 6 and October 1, 2025.

After the DAVE Act passed on August 6, 2025, 9% (822) of long-term vacancies across all State agencies have been reported "Planned for Elimination," as State agencies worked to "true up" their budgets. Many of these positions had reportedly remained vacant because State agencies did not properly review old positions, either in order to purposefully generate lapsed salaries or due to poor vacancy tracking.

Because the elimination process takes time, many positions planned for elimination have yet to be eliminated. In 2026, DAVE will follow-up with these State agencies to confirm that the identified positions were eliminated.

Six State agencies (29%) planned to eliminate over 10% of their positions, while eight (38%) planned to eliminate less than 2%.[44] These State agencies are listed below in ascending order based on the percentage of the long-term vacancies they planned for elimination and the associated lapsed salary they generate from State appropriations and receipts.

This data, as well as more interactive graphs and tables, are available on OSA's online dashboard viewable here. Pertinent context for these State agencies' planned long-term vacancy eliminations is provided below.

Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf Will Retain All Long-Term Vacancies

The Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf does not plan to eliminate any of its long-term vacancies. OSA also does not recommend eliminating positions at this school or at any other special education agency in North Carolina.

The Department of Commerce Plans to Eliminate 0.3% of its Long-Term Vacancies

The Department of Commerce only plans to eliminate two of its 684 long-term vacancies. However, 650 of its long-term vacancies are within its Division of Employment Security Commission which is predominantly comprised of unfunded federal positions reserved for an unemployment crisis. Keeping these positions within OSHR's system allows for rapid hiring if the need arises. Excluding the Division of Employment Security Commission, the Department of Commerce has a 5.8% long-term vacancy elimination rate which does not raise concerns.

[45] Excludes federal funding and highway funds.

[46] The Administrative Office of the Courts assists with reporting on position figures in local courts and other judicial department agencies which are outside of the authority of AOC.

The Department of Insurance Plans to Eliminate 39% of its Long-Term Vacancies

The Department of Insurance stated that it planned to eliminate a significant number of its long-term vacancies that it reported. However, most of these positions are time-limited positions within the Office of the State Fire Marshall that will end on December 31, 2025, so this elimination rate does not raise concerns.

The Department of Public Instruction Plans to Eliminate 28% of its Long-Term Vacancies

The Department of Public Instruction stated that it planned to eliminate a significant number of its long-term vacancies it reported. However, it anticipates making many of these eliminations to "proactively . . . meet legislative cuts."[47] This is a responsible course of action for budget management purposes and does not raise concerns regarding the elimination rate.

The Governor Morehead School for the Blind Plans to Eliminate 11% of its Long-Term Vacancies

The Governor Morehead School for the Blind plans to eliminate a significant number of its long-term vacancies it reported. However, because the Governor Morehead School for the Blind was recently broken out as its own State agency, it is working to staff its human resources department. Part of the School's planned elimination of many of its long-term vacancies stemmed from a backlog that predated the split on July 1, 2025.[48] Therefore, the School's high elimination rate of long-term vacancies is not a cause for concern. OSA does not recommend eliminating any positions from any special education State agency in North Carolina.

Low compensation was the most common cause for long-term vacancies according to State agencies.

Across all State agencies, 34% (2,984) of long-term vacancies were attributed to a combination of low compensation, unqualified applicants, and relocation requirements. Because of their interconnectedness, these reasons have been grouped into a single category for the online dashboard.[49] A detailed breakdown of each subcategory is included below.

[49] Viewable here.

The general category “Low Pay/Unqualified Applicants” captures any responses from State agencies that mentioned either problem broadly, in no specific terms, or explicitly cited both reasons as the cause of the length of their vacancies. “Unqualified Applicants” applies to all responses from State agencies in which applicant qualifications were specifically mentioned, usually in relation to difficult certifications or rare skillsets. “Low Pay” appeared the most in responses pertaining to positions for which a given State agency’s proposed salary was significantly below the going market rate. “Relocation Requirements” applies to jobs in remote areas of North Carolina, which either exist only near a small pool of applicants or requires relocation or a long commute to reach a broader applicant base.

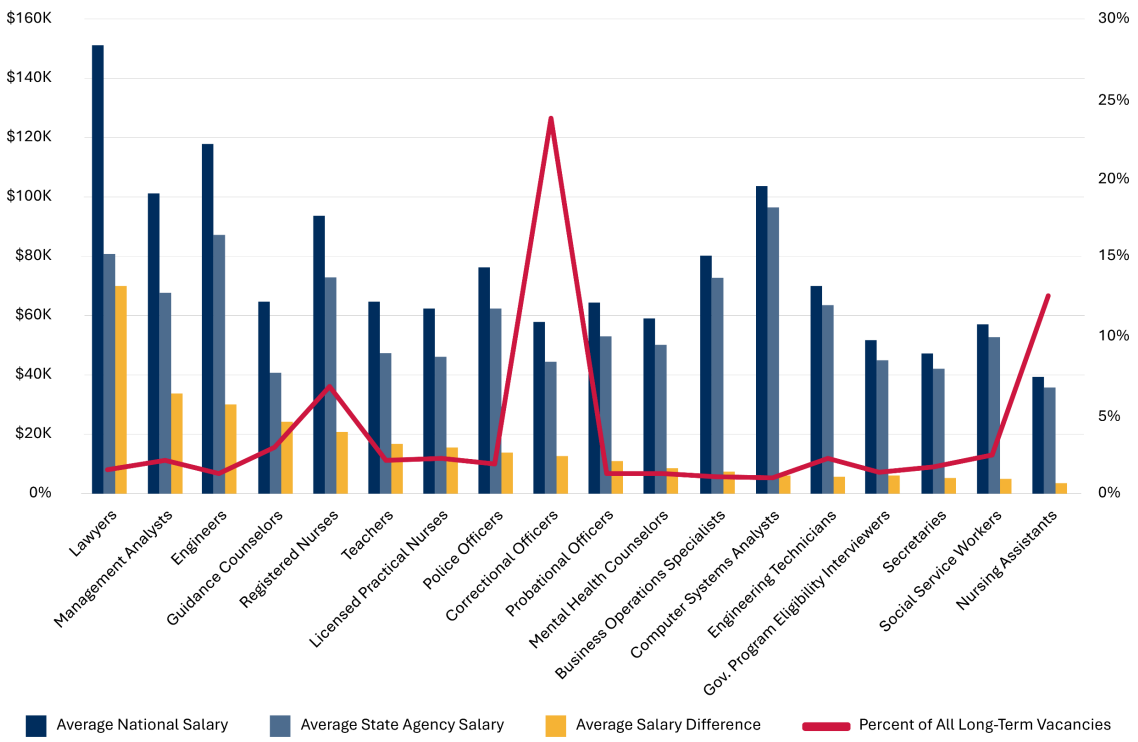

By grouping positions by their salary, the data shows that 74% of long-term vacancies are positions that earn between $30,000-$60,000. While this is not altogether surprising given the number of State employees whose salaries fall within this range, positions that pay substantially less than comparable roles in other states or the private sector remain a concern.

By comparing U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) data with salary information for long-term vacancies in North Carolina State agencies, auditors identified positions with the largest pay gaps relative to the national average for similar roles. To highlight the most significant issues, auditors then prioritized positions with the highest vacancy rates.

Figure 19. State agency salary compared to the national average (for all positions which made up >1% of all long-term vacancies)

This graph ranks position categories from left to right based on the largest salary gaps between the national average (as reported by BLS) and the average salary offered for long-term vacancies in North Carolina State agencies. Only position types that account for at least 1% of all long-term vacancies are included. The red line represents the percentage of long-term vacancies for each position category. The blue bars show the average national salary and average salary offered by North Carolina State agencies for those vacancies, while the gold bars display the difference between the two for each position category. For example, correctional officer positions, located near the midpoint of the graph, make up 24% of all long-term vacancies and offer salaries that are, on average, $13,000 lower than the national average for similar roles.

This data, combined with State agency responses citing low compensation or unqualified applicants as reasons for persistent long-term vacancies, highlights positions that likely require salary adjustments. These adjustments could take various forms; however, raising all identified positions to the national average would require millions of dollars in additional State appropriations. The graph below, organized by State agency, illustrates the estimated funding needed from the General Assembly to match national salary averages for each position category. For example, the Department of Adult Correction would require more than $80 million annually to bring salaries for its long-term vacancies in line with the national average for comparable roles. It is important to note that this analysis excludes positions vacant for less than six months and does not account for salary increases that may be necessary to maintain parity for current employees once new hires receive adjusted pay rates.

It is worth noting that the Department of Information Technology is one of the only State agencies that offers a significantly higher average salary for its long-term vacancies than the national average offered to similar positions in other states and the private sector. BLS groups jobs into broad categories, but the specific positions within each category can vary by state. Furthermore, the mix of higher- and lower-paying roles within these categories may differ across states, which can make average salary comparisons misleading when individual job wages are actually more similar than they appear. The national average is also not a perfect salary target because it does not account for differences in cost of living, job location desirability, and other factors. However, the scale of this salary difference problem is unmistakable. Therefore, a more targeted, innovative, and fiscally responsible approach is needed to fill vacancies with the funds currently available to State agencies. By eliminating some existing long-term vacancies and redistributing their lapsed salary to the remaining vacancies and currently filled positions, State agencies could fill more positions, and increase employee retention without requiring additional funds from the General Assembly to do so.

Using the long-term vacancy data, OSA analyzed the top 50 positions with the highest average days vacant and compared them with the average salary variance of that position. We found that there was no statistical correlation between how long a position was vacant and how significant the difference between the salary offered by the State of North Carolina and the national salary average was. The lack of correlation between these factors is demonstrated by the graph below.

Figure 22. Average salary difference compared to the average number of days vacant for the top 50 positions with the highest average days vacant

Seven State agencies with 15 long-term vacancies or more attributed more than 10% of their long-term vacancies to low compensation. These State agencies are listed below.

| State Agency Name | Percent of Long-Term Vacancies Attributed to Low Compensation | Number of Long-Term Vacancies Attributed to Low Compensation |
|---|---|---|
| Dept. of Adult Correction | 60.9% | 1,715/2,817 |

The Department of Adult Correction Attributes 61% of its Long-Term Vacancies to Low Compensation

The Department of Adult Correction (DAC) attributes a significant number of its long-term vacancies to low compensation. 2,039 long-term vacancies within DAC are for correctional officers. A detailed explanation of correctional officer vacancies, salaries, and potential solutions is outlined below.

| Job Category | National Salary Ranking[51] | NC State Agency Average Salary[52] | NC Average Salary | National Average Salary |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Correctional Officer | 39th/50 | $46,723 | $50,450 | $62,760 |

[51] BLS: "Correctional Officers and Jailers" Employment and Wages by State.
[52] Data from the Integrated HR/Payroll System (BEACON).

DAC Correctional Officers Earn $16,037 Less Than the National Average

The State of North Carolina employs 7,947 correctional officers but has 2,808 vacancies (35.3% vacancy rate) and 2,039 long-term vacancies (26% long-term vacancy rate).

According to DAC, "Correctional Officer I" positions have a 32% vacancy rate with 498 vacant positions, 326 of which are long-term. "Correctional Officer II" positions have a 42% vacancy rate with 1,375 vacant positions, 1,052 of which are long-term. "Correctional Officer III" positions have a 30% vacancy rate with 935 vacant positions, 661 of which are long-term.[53]

| Job Title | Number of Positions | Total Vacancies | Percent Vacant | Number of Long-Term Vacancies | Percent Long-Term Vacant | Percent of Vacancies Long-Term |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Correctional Officer I | 1,556 | 498 | 32% | 326 | 21% | 65% |
| Correctional Officer II | 3,274 | 1,375 | 42% | 1,052 | 32% | 77% |
| Correctional Officer III | 3,117 | 935 | 30% | 661 | 21% | 71% |

One of the reasons for this high vacancy rate is the low salary offered compared to surrounding states. The average salary for long-term vacant Correctional Officer I, II, and III positions at DAC is $46,059. According to DAC, "Correctional Officer (CO) starting pay [in North Carolina] is $37,621, which is the third lowest in the nation." Only Louisiana ($37,440) and New Mexico ($35,440) offer lower starting salaries for COs. Neighboring states in the southeastern region including Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, South Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, and West Virginia have an average starting salary of $44,920, which is $7,299 more than NCDAC.

According to the BLS, while the average North Carolina correctional officer earns $50,450, the average correctional officer earns more in Virginia ($54,030), Tennessee ($51,290), and South Carolina ($50,740). The only state bordering North Carolina that has a lower average salary for correctional officers is Georgia at $45,640.[54] North Carolina correctional officers also earn $12,310 less than the national average salary offered to correctional officers, $62,760.

Southeastern states do not rank highly in correctional officer salaries, with Virginia ranking the highest in the region at 31st. North Carolina ranks 39th.

BLS data includes county detention center correctional officers in its statistics, which, according to DAC, "often offer starting salaries at or above $50,000, well above the top of the State's Correctional Officer salary schedule." Therefore, State-employed correctional officers in North Carolina may be paid even less than the BLS average statistics convey.

The State of North Carolina can increase the salary of correctional officers without allocating more money to DAC. By eliminating a certain number of correctional officer vacancies and redistributing the lapsed salary to increase the salaries of the remaining positions, both filled and unfilled, DAC can become competitive with surrounding states and similar professions that currently offer higher salaries.

Below is a projection of the potential salaries achievable by eliminating correctional officer vacancies and redistributing the lapsed salaries. The horizontal axis ranges from 7,947 to 5,897, with keeping 100% of correctional officer vacancies on the left and keeping 0% of correctional officer vacancies on the right of the graph. The range for the horizontal axis is the total number of correctional officers, so because approximately 5,900 DAC correctional officer positions are either filled or were recently vacated, 5,900 positions would remain if all long-term vacancies were eliminated.

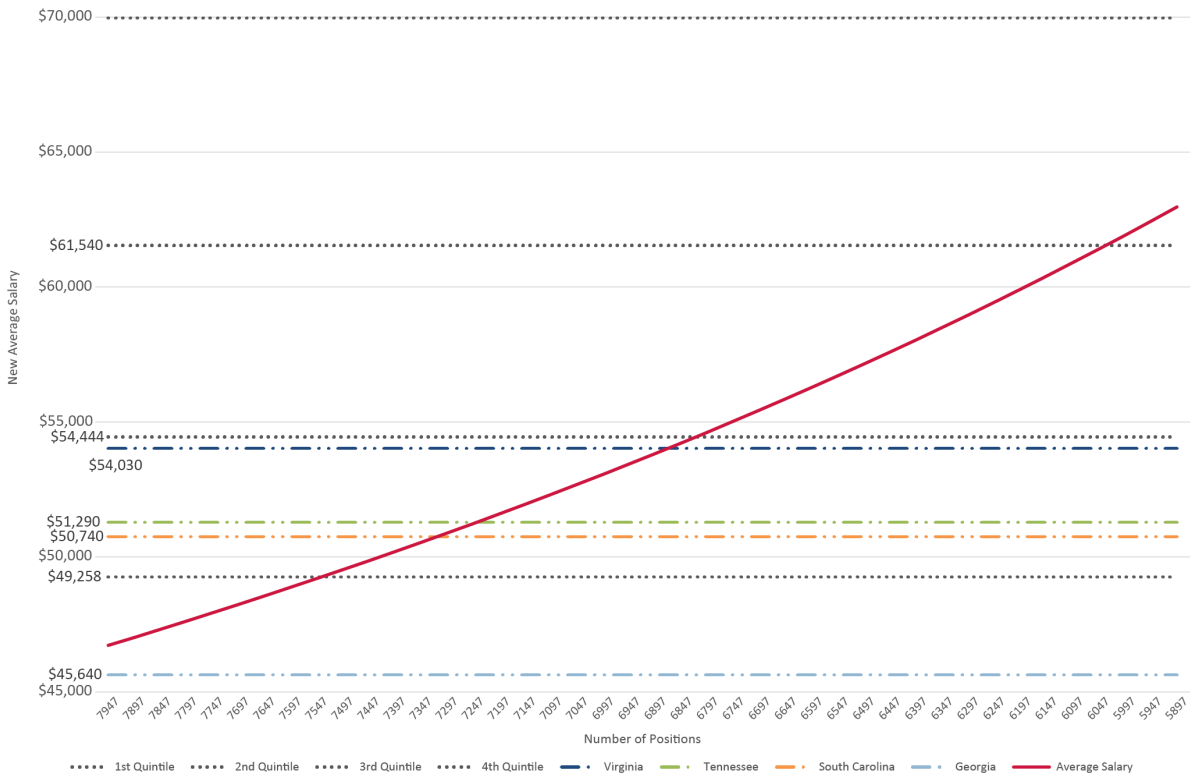

The vertical axis is the salary amount achievable by redistributing the lapsed salary of any eliminated correctional officer position. It starts with the current average wage for a correctional officer at DAC, $46,723. The red line shows the positive relationship between eliminating vacancies and the new, higher salary for the correctional officers that remain. The highest point on the red line shows the salary achievable by eliminating all correctional officer long-term vacancies at DAC, $62,966.

The dashed horizontal lines along the graph indicate the average correctional officer salary of states surrounding North Carolina. Some, like Georgia, are below even North Carolina's average correctional officer salary. The intersection point of the dashed lines and the upward sloping red line, representing all possible wages for DAC correctional officers, shows the number of correctional officer positions that would need to be eliminated to achieve that salary. For instance, in order for the average DAC correctional officer to make the same as the average correctional officer in Virginia, DAC would have to eliminate 1,100 vacant correctional officer positions, leaving DAC with the ability to hire a maximum of 6,847 correctional officers.

The dotted horizontal lines along the graph indicate the average correctional officer salary across the United States. All 50 states are broken into quintiles, or five equal groups. These groups are separated by benchmarks that delineate the split between groups of ten states. For example, as long as the red upward sloping line is below the lowest dotted line, North Carolina correctional officer salaries are in the bottom 20% of states. The section of the red line that is above the lowest but below the second lowest dotted line is the range when correctional officer salaries are approximately equivalent to the bottom 20-40% of states. Because the highest dotted line is higher than the top of the upward sloping red line, even if DAC eliminated 100% of their correctional officer vacancies and redistributed the lapsed salaries to increase the wages of all currently employed correctional officers, North Carolina would still not be in the top 20% of highest paying states.

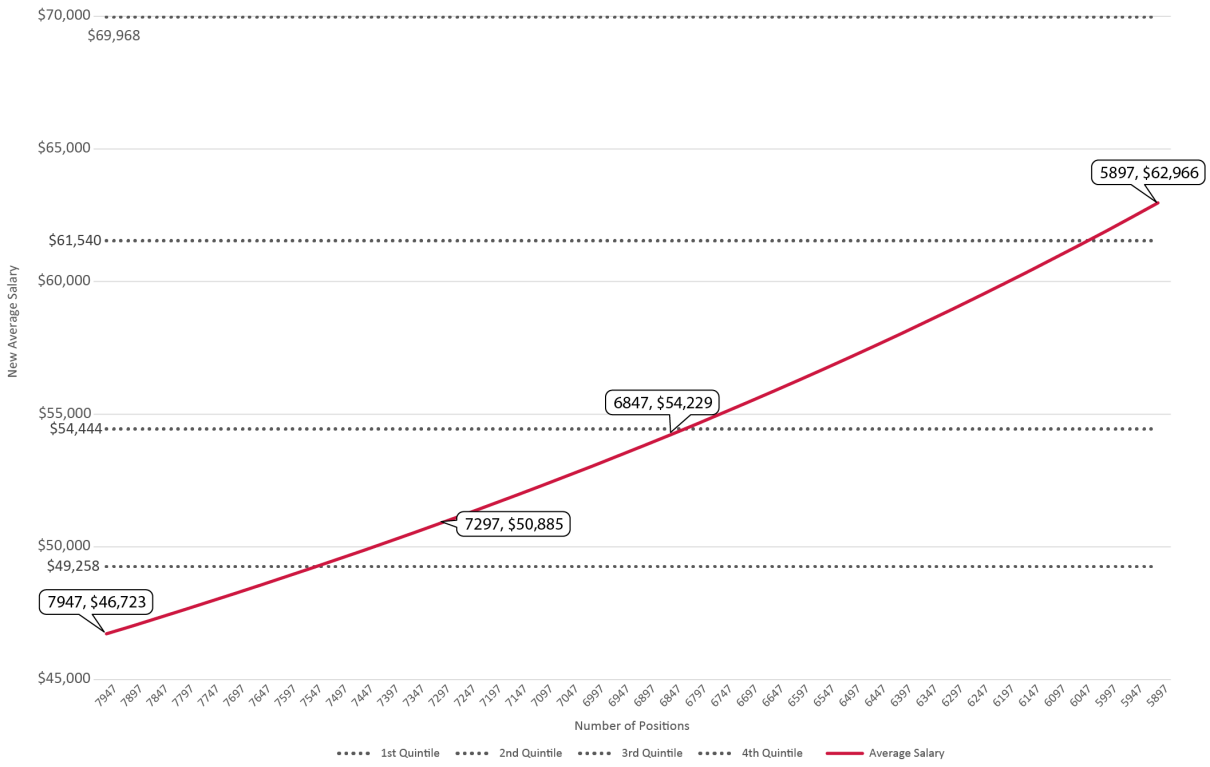

With the data available to the Office of the State Auditor, we are not able to determine the optimal wage for correctional officers. To do so would require further investigation into the optimal number of staff at DAC, the optimal skill levels of such staff, and the elasticity of labor supply for correctional officers in different regions of the state. For instance, simply because correctional officer wages increase does not mean more people will be interested in the positions or that they will be equally as interested at each facility. In other words, just because a State agency can eliminate some vacant positions and raise wages for the rest of its workers, it does not guarantee the remaining vacancies will be filled. This is also not proof that DAC does not need additional funding for correctional officer salaries. If DAC needs all vacancies to be filled or enough that those eliminated cannot raise the wages of the others sufficiently, then DAC may need additional funding to fill the gap. The purpose of the graphs provided below is limited to guiding DAC and lawmakers through potential solutions identified by OSA.

The following graph uses the same structure as the previous one but removes the comparison to neighboring states. Instead, it focuses on key intersection points along the red line, which represents the projected average salary for correctional officers as vacancies are eliminated and their lapsed salaries are redistributed. These labeled points show the possible new wage at different levels of vacancy elimination and the corresponding maximum number of positions that could remain filled. For example, eliminating all long-term vacancies would raise the average salary to $62,966 with 5,897 positions remaining, while eliminating none would keep the average salary at $46,723 with 7,947 positions. This graph is intended as a guideline for decision-making, illustrating potential outcomes rather than prescribing a specific course of action.

The Department of Health & Human Services Attributes 30% of its Long-Term Vacancies to Low Compensation

The Department of Health & Human Services (DHHS) attributes a significant number of its long-term vacancies to low compensation. 1,569 long-term vacancies within DHHS are for nursing assistants, licensed practical nurses, and registered nurses. Please note that DHHS is not the only agency facing hiring struggles for nurses. Other agencies like the Department of Adult Correction have the same low compensation issues. However, for the sake of simplicity in this analysis, only DHHS's positions were analyzed. In conjunction with any future salary investigations, it is recommended that job classifications are considered across agencies. Detailed explanations of nursing-related vacancies, salaries, and potential solutions are outlined below.

|---|---|---|---|---|
| Nursing Assistant | 37th/50 | $36,912 | $37,980 | $41,270 |
| Licensed Practical Nurse | 24th/50 | $49,879 | $62,040 | $62,340 |
| Registered Nurse | 33rd/50 | $74,532 | $86,270 | $93,600 |

DHHS Nursing Assistants Earn $4,358 Less Than the National Average

DHHS employs 3,993 nursing assistants but has 1,394 vacancies (34.9% vacancy rate) and 1,045 long-term vacancies (26.2% vacancy rate).

According to DHHS, "Health Care Technician I" positions have a 25.4% long-term vacancy rate with 909 long-term vacant positions. "Health Care Technician II" positions have a 27.0% long-term vacancy rate with 136 long-term vacant positions.[57]

| Job Title | Number of Positions | Total Vacancies | Percent Vacant | Number of Long-Term Vacancies | Percent Long-Term Vacant | Percent of Vacancies Long-Term |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Health Care Technician I | 3,574 | 1,281 | 35.8% | 909 | 25.4% | 71.0% |
| Health Care Technician II | 419 | 136 | 27.0% | 136 | 27.0% | 100% |

One of the reasons for this high vacancy rate is the low salary offered by DHHS as compared to surrounding states. The average salary for the long-term vacant "Heath Care Technician I and II" positions at DHHS is $35,685. According to the BLS, while the average North Carolina nursing assistant earns $37,980, the average nursing assistant earns more in Virginia ($40,160). However, North Carolina nursing assistants earn more than similarly-situated nursing assistants in Georgia ($37,090), Tennessee ($37,040), and South Carolina ($35,970).[58] It is worth noting that the BLS category for nursing assistants includes both public sector and private sector jobs, as well as other positions such as "Health Care Technician Lead" and supervisor positions.

North Carolina nursing assistants earn $3,290 less than the national average of $41,270, ranking 37th in the United States. Southeastern states do not rank highly in nursing assistant salaries, with Virginia ranking the highest at 28th, Georgia at 41st, Tennessee at 42nd, and South Carolina at 45th.

The State of North Carolina can increase the salary offered to nursing assistants without allocating more money to DHHS. By eliminating a certain number of nursing assistant vacancies and redistributing the lapsed salary to increase the salaries of the remaining positions, both filled and unfilled, DHHS can become competitive with surrounding states and similar professions that currently offer higher salaries.

Below is a projection of the potential salaries achievable by eliminating nursing assistant vacancies and redistributing the associated lapsed salaries. The horizontal axis ranges from 3,993 to 2,943, with keeping 100% of nursing assistant vacancies on the left and keeping 0% of nursing assistant vacancies on the right of the graph. The range for the horizontal axis is the total number of nursing assistants, so because approximately 2,950 nursing assistant positions are filled or were recently vacated at DHHS, 2,950 positions would remain if all long-term vacancies were eliminated.

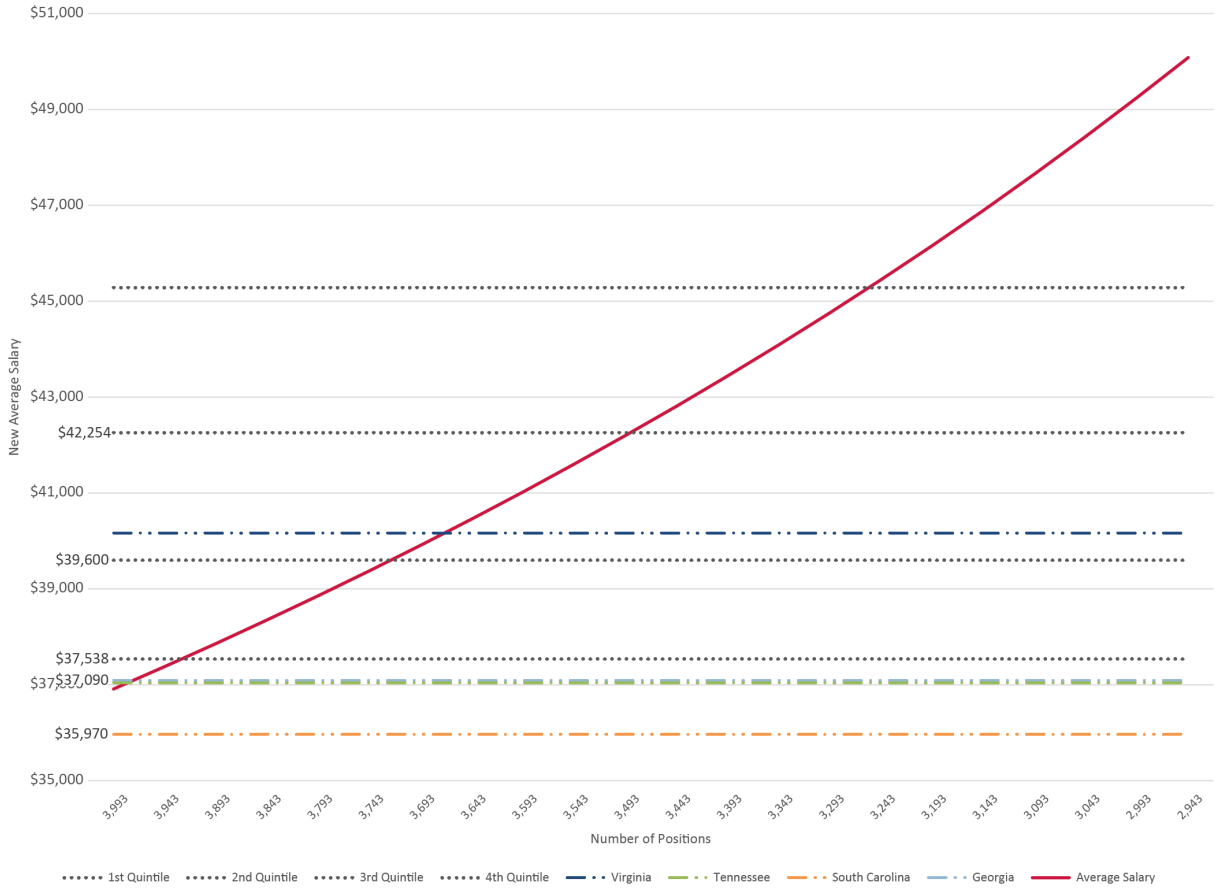

The vertical axis is the salary amount achievable by redistributing the lapsed salary of any eliminated nursing assistant position. It starts with the current average wage for a nursing assistant at DHHS, $36,912. The red line shows the positive relationship between eliminating vacancies and the new, higher salary for the nursing assistants that remain. The highest point on the red line shows the salary achievable by eliminating all nursing assistant long-term vacancies at DHHS, $50,081.

The dashed horizontal lines along the graph indicate the average nursing assistant salary of states surrounding North Carolina. Some, like South Carolina, are below even North Carolina's average nursing assistant salary. The intersection point of the dashed lines and the upward sloping red line, representing all possible wages for DHHS nursing assistants, shows the number of nursing assistant positions that would need to be eliminated to achieve that salary. For instance, in order for the average DHHS nursing assistant to make the same as the average nursing assistant in Virginia, DHHS would have to eliminate 300 vacant positions, leaving it with a potential to hire a maximum of 3,693 nursing assistants.

The dotted horizontal lines along the graph indicate the average nursing assistant salary across the United States. All 50 states are broken into quintiles, or five equal groups. These groups are separated by benchmarks that delineate the split between groups of ten states. For example, as long as the red upward sloping line is below the lowest dotted line, North Carolina nursing assistant salaries are in the bottom 20% of states. The section of the red line that is above the lowest but below the second lowest dotted line is the range when nursing assistant salaries are approximately equivalent to the bottom 20-40% of states.

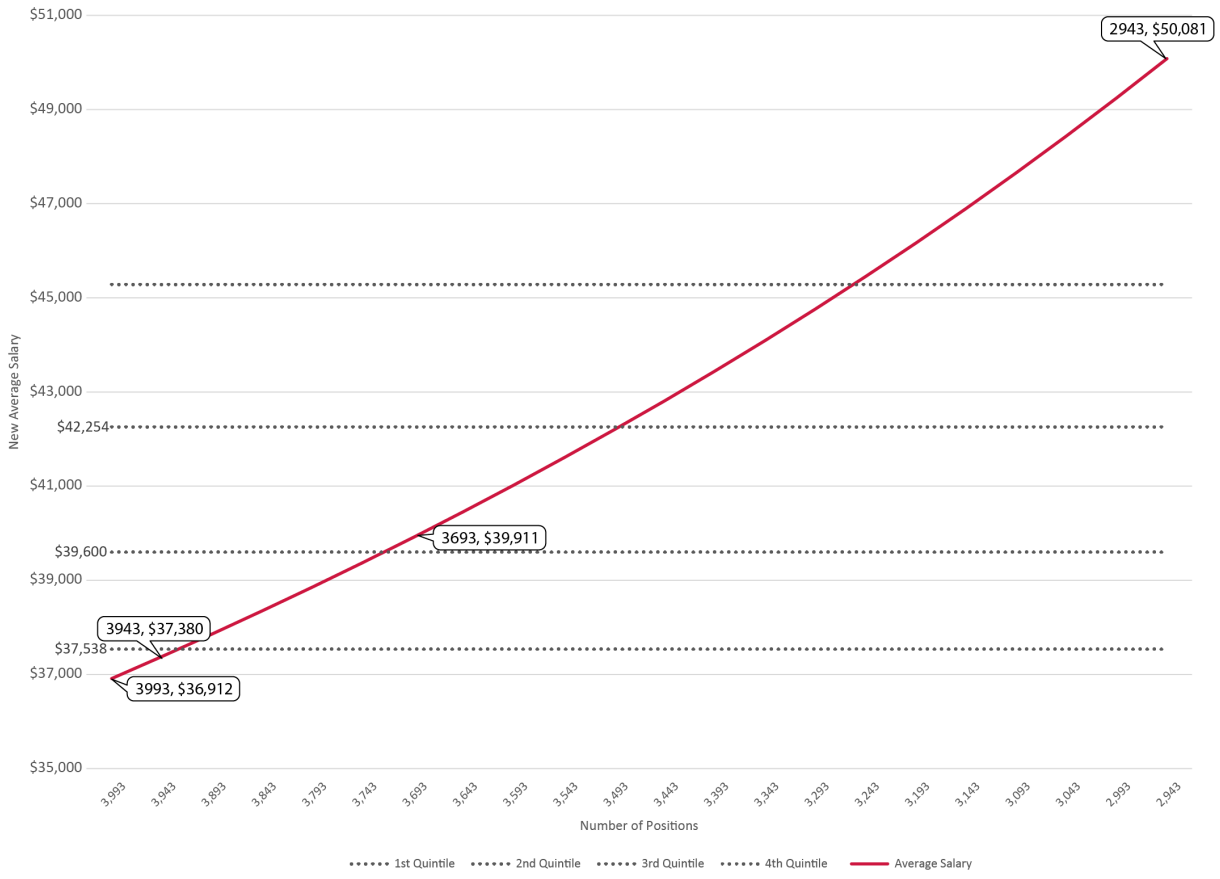

With the data available to the Office of the State Auditor, we were unable to determine the optimal wage for nursing assistants. That requires further investigation into the optimal number of staff at DHHS, the optimal skill levels of such staff, and the elasticity of labor supply for nursing assistants in different regions across the state. For instance, simply because nursing assistant wages increase does not mean that more people will be interested in the positions or that applicants will be equally as interested in working at each facility. In other words, just because a State agency can eliminate some vacant positions and raise wages for the rest of its workers there is no guarantee that its remaining vacancies will be filled. If DHHS requires all vacancies to be filled or enough that those eliminated cannot raise the wages of the others sufficiently, then DHHS may need additional funding to fill the gaps. ### DHHS Licensed Practical Nurses Earn $12,461 Less Than the National Average

DHHS employs 246 licensed practical nurses but has 119 vacancies (48.4% vacancy rate). According to DHHS, licensed practical nurses have a 44.3% long-term vacancy rate with 109 long-term vacant positions.[59]

| Job Title | Number of Positions | Total Vacancies | Percent Vacant | Number of Long-Term Vacancies | Percent Long-Term Vacant | Percent of Vacancies Long-Term |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Licensed Practical Nurse | 246 | 119 | 48.4% | 109 | 44.3% | 91.6% |

One of the reasons for this high vacancy rate is the low salary offered compared to surrounding states. The average salary for the long-term vacant licensed practical nurse positions at DHHS is $48,325. According to the BLS, while the average North Carolina licensed practical nurse earns $62,040, the average licensed practical nurse earns more in Virginia ($63,380). However, North Carolina licensed practical nurses earn more than similarly-situated licensed practical nurses in Georgia ($58,090), Tennessee ($53,490), and South Carolina ($58,430).[60] It is worth noting that the BLS category for licensed practical nurses includes both public sector and private sector jobs, as well as other positions such as licensed vocational nurses.

North Carolina licensed practical nurses earn $300 less than the national average of $62,340, ranking 24th in the United States. Southeastern states do not rank highly in licensed practical nurse salaries, with Virginia ranking the highest at 21st, South Carolina at 39th, Georgia at 40th, and Tennessee at 45th.

The State of North Carolina can increase the salary of licensed practical nurses without allocating more money to DHHS. By eliminating a certain number of licensed practical nurse vacancies and redistributing the lapsed salary to increase the salaries of the remaining positions, both filled and unfilled, DHHS can become competitive with surrounding states and similar professions that currently offer higher salaries.

Below is a projection of the potential salaries achievable by eliminating licensed practical nurse vacancies and redistributing the associated lapsed salaries generated by those vacancies. The horizontal axis ranges from 246 to 136, with keeping 100% of licensed practical nurse vacancies on the left and keeping 0% of licensed practical nurse vacancies on the right of the graph. The range for the horizontal axis is the total number of licensed practical nurses, so because approximately 140 licensed practical nurse positions are filled or were recently vacated at DHHS, 140 of positions would remain if all long-term vacancies were eliminated.

The vertical axis is the salary amount achievable by redistributing the lapsed salary of any eliminated licensed practical nurse position. It starts with the current average wage for a licensed practical nurse at DHHS, $48,325. The red line shows the positive relationship between eliminating vacancies and the new, higher salary for the licensed practical nurses that remain. The highest point on the red line shows the salary achievable by eliminating all licensed practical nurse long-term vacancies at DHHS, $87,411.

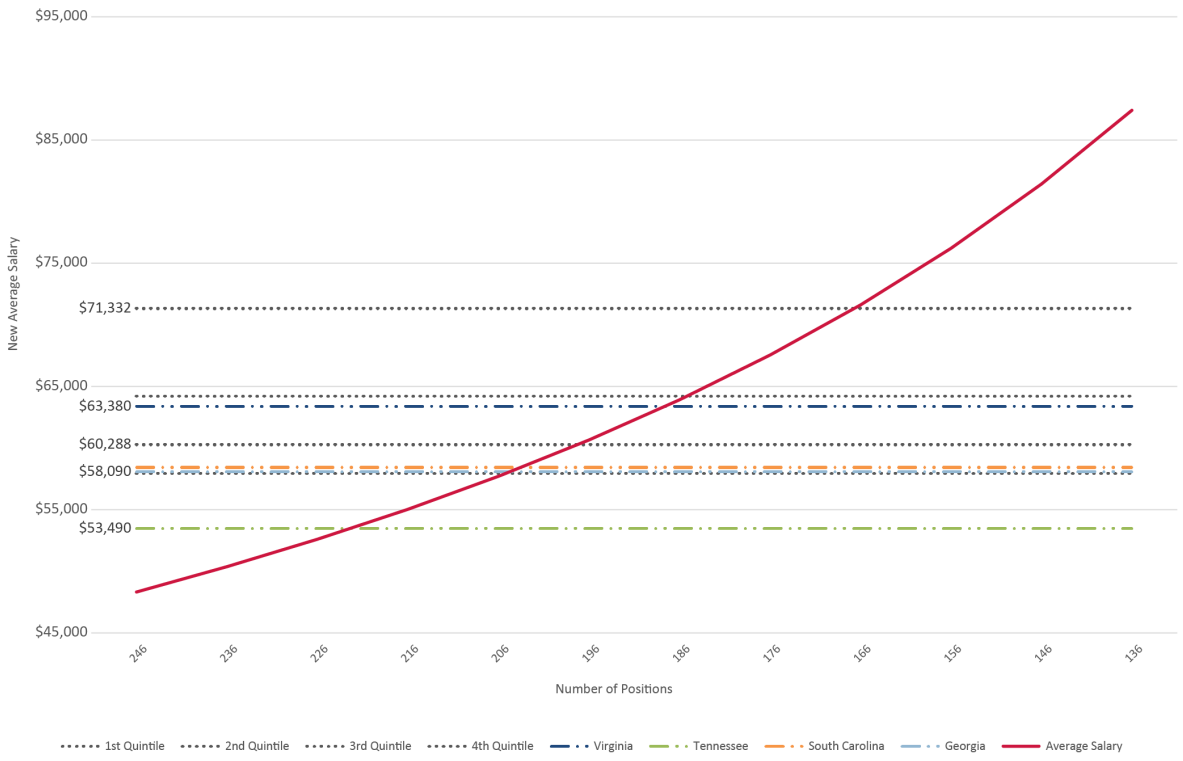

The dashed horizontal lines along the graph indicate the average licensed practical nurse salary of states surrounding North Carolina. The intersection point of the dashed lines and the upward sloping red line, representing all possible wages for DHHS licensed practical nurses, shows the number of licensed practical nurse positions that would need to be eliminated to achieve that salary. For instance, in order for the average DHHS licensed practical nurse to make the same as the average licensed practical nurse in Virginia, DHHS would have to eliminate 60 vacant positions, leaving it with the ability to hire a maximum of 186 licensed practical nurses.

The dotted horizontal lines along the graph indicate the average licensed practical nurse salary across the United States. All 50 states are broken into quintiles, or five equal groups. These groups are separated by benchmarks that delineate the split between groups of ten states. For example, as long as the red upward sloping line is below the lowest dotted line, North Carolina licensed practical nurse salaries are in the bottom 20% of states. The section of the red line that is above the lowest dotted line but below the second lowest dotted line is the range when licensed practical nurse salaries are approximately equivalent to the bottom 20-40% of states.

[60] BLS: “Licensed Practical & Licensed Vocational Nurse” Employment and Wages by State.

With the data available to the Office of the State Auditor, we were unable to determine the optimal wage for licensed practical nurses. That requires further investigation into the optimal number of staff at DHHS, the optimal skill levels of such staff, and the elasticity of labor supply for licensed practical nurses in different regions across the state. For instance, simply because licensed practical nurse wages increase does not mean that more people will be interested in the positions or that applicants will be equally as interested in working at each facility. In other words, just because a State agency can eliminate some vacant positions and raise wages for the rest of its workers, there is no guarantee that the remaining vacancies will be filled. This is also not proof that DHHS does not need additional funding for licensed practical nurse salaries. If DHHS requires all vacancies to be filled or enough that those eliminated cannot sufficiently raise the wages of the agency's existing positions, then DHHS may need additional funding to fill the gap. The purpose of the graphs provided below, however, are limited to guiding DHHS and lawmakers through potential solutions identified by OSA.

The following graph uses the same structure as the previous one but removes the comparison to neighboring states. Instead, it focuses on key points along the red line, which represents the projected average salary for licensed practical nurses as vacancies are eliminated and their lapsed salaries redistributed. These labeled points show the potential new wage at different levels of vacancy elimination and the corresponding maximum number of positions that could remain filled. For example, eliminating all long-term vacancies would raise the average salary to $87,411 with 136 positions remaining, while eliminating none would keep the average salary at $48,325 with 246 positions. This graph is intended as a guideline for decision-making, illustrating possible outcomes rather than prescribing a specific course of action.

DHHS Registered Nurses Earn $19,068 Less Than the National Average

DHHS employs 795 registered nurses but has 437 vacancies (55.0% vacancy rate).[61] According to DHHS, registered nurses have a 52.2% long-term vacancy rate with 415 long-term vacant positions.[62]

| Job Title | Number of Positions | Total Vacancies | Percent Vacant | Number of Long-Term Vacancies | Percent Long-Term Vacant | Percent of Vacancies Long-Term |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Registered Nurse | 795 | 437 | 55.0% | 415 | 52.2% | 95.0% |

One of the reasons for this high vacancy rate is the low salary offered by the State of North Carolina as compared to surrounding states. The average salary for the long-term vacant registered nurse positions at DHHS is $71,478. According to the BLS, while the average North Carolina registered nurse earns $86,270, the average registered nurse earns more in Georgia ($91,960) and Virginia ($90,930). However, North Carolina registered nurses earn more than Tennessee ($82,010), and South Carolina ($84,930).[63] It is worth noting that the BLS category for registered nurses includes both public sector and private sector jobs.

North Carolina registered nurses earn $7,330 less than the national average of $93,600, ranking 33rd in the United States. Southeastern states do not rank highly in registered nurse salaries, with Georgia ranking the highest at 20th, Virginia at 23rd, South Carolina at 37th, and Tennessee at 41st.

The State of North Carolina can increase the salary of registered nurses without allocating more money to the DHHS. By eliminating a certain number of registered nurse vacancies and redistributing the lapsed salary those positions generated to increase the salaries of the remaining positions, both filled and unfilled, DHHS can become competitive with surrounding states and similar professions that currently offer higher salaries.

Below is a projection of the potential salaries achievable by eliminating registered nurse vacancies and redistributing the lapsed salaries. The horizontal axis ranges from 795 to 375, keeping 100% of registered nurse vacancies on the left and keeping 0% of registered nurse vacancies on the right of the graph. The range for the horizontal axis is the total number of registered nurses, so because approximately 380 registered nurse positions are filled or were recently vacated at DHHS, 380 positions would remain if all long-term vacancies were eliminated.

The vertical axis is the salary amount achievable by redistributing the lapsed salary of any eliminated registered nurse position. It starts at the lower, current average wage for a registered nurse at DHHS, $71,487. The red line shows the positive relationship between eliminating vacancies and the new, higher salary for the registered nurses that remain. The highest point on the red line shows the salary achievable by eliminating all registered nurse long-term vacancies at DHHS, $151,552.

The dashed horizontal lines along the graph indicate the average registered nurse salary of states surrounding North Carolina. The intersection point of the dashed lines and the upward sloping red line, representing all possible wages for DHHS registered nurses, shows the number of registered nurse positions that would need to be eliminated to achieve that salary. For instance, for the average DHHS registered nurse to make the same as the average registered nurse in Virginia, DHHS would have to eliminate 160 vacant positions, leaving them with a potential to hire a maximum of 635 registered nurses.

The dotted horizontal lines along the graph indicate the average registered nurse salary of the across the United States. All 50 states are broken into quintiles, or five equal groups. These groups are separated by benchmarks that delineate the split between groups of ten states. For example, as long as the red upward sloping line is below the lowest dotted line, North Carolina registered nurse salaries are in the bottom 20% of states. This is also not proof that DHHS does not need additional funding for registered nurse salaries. The Department of Public Safety Attributes 25% of its Long-Term Vacancies to Low Compensation

The Department of Public Safety (DPS) attributes a significant number of its long-term vacancies to low compensation. 92 long-term vacancies within DPS are for youth counselors. A detailed explanation of youth counselor vacancies, salaries, and potential solutions is outlined below.

| Job Category | National Salary Ranking[64] | NC State agency Average Salary[65] | NC Average Salary | National Average Salary |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Counselors, All Other | 34th/43 | $57,585 | $47,490 | $58,070 |

[64] "Counselors, All Other" Employment and Wages by State.
[65] Integrated HR/Payroll System (BEACON).

DPS Counselors Earn $485 Less Than the National Average

The State of North Carolina employs 529 youth and juvenile court counselors but has 92 long-term vacancies (17.4% long-term vacancy rate).

According to DPS, youth counselor positions have a 40.6% vacancy rate with 39 long-term vacant positions. Juvenile court counselor positions have a 12.2% vacancy rate with 53 long-term vacant positions.[66]

| Job Title | Number of Positions | Total Vacancies | Percent Vacant | Number of Long-Term Vacancies | Percent Long-Term Vacant | Percent of Vacancies Long-Term |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Youth Counselor | 96 | 39 | 40.6% | 39 | 40.6% | 100% |
| Juvenile Court Counselor | 433 | 81 | 18.7% | 53 | 12.2% | 65.4% |

One of the reasons for this high vacancy rate is the low salary offered by the State of North Carolina as compared to surrounding states. The average salary for the long-term vacant youth counselor and juvenile court counselor positions at DPS is $51,850. According to the BLS, while the average North Carolina counselor earns $47,490, the average counselor earns more in South Carolina ($69,840), Georgia ($65,560), and Tennessee ($53,710).[67] It is worth noting that the BLS category for youth and juvenile court counselors is “Counselors, All Other” so different states may have different positions that fall into this classification. For instance, Virginia reports an average salary of $106,560 for this category, the highest nationwide, suggesting that lower-paying roles like youth counselor are likely excluded or underrepresented in the dataset.

North Carolina counselors earn $10,580 less than the national average of $58,070, ranking 34th out of the 43 states that use this classification.

In addition to Virginia, southeastern states rank relatively high in counselor salaries, with South Carolina at 11th, Georgia at 14th, and Tennessee at 27th. Given the salaries they offer, these states may be competitors for the State of North Carolina’s youth counselors, further hindering DPS’s hiring process.

The State of North Carolina can increase the salary of youth counselors without allocating more money to DPS. By eliminating a certain number of youth counselor vacancies and redistributing the lapsed salary to increase the salaries of the remaining positions, both filled and unfilled, DPS can become competitive with surrounding states and similar professions that currently offer higher salaries.

Below is a projection of the potential salaries achievable by eliminating youth counselor vacancies and redistributing the lapsed salaries. The horizontal axis ranges from 783 to 693, with keeping 100% of youth counselors vacancies on the left and keeping 0% of youth counselors vacancies on the right of the graph. The range for the horizontal axis is the total number of youth counselors, so because approximately 690 youth counselor positions are filled or were recently vacated at DPS, 690 positions would remain if all long-term vacancies were eliminated.

The vertical axis is the salary amount achievable by redistributing the lapsed salary of any eliminated youth counselor position. It starts with the current average wage for a youth counselor at DPS, $51,850. The red line shows the positive relationship between eliminating vacancies and the new, higher salary for the youth counselors that remain. The highest point on the red line shows the salary achievable by eliminating all youth counselor long-term vacancies at DPS, $58,584.

The dashed horizontal lines along the graph indicate the average youth counselor salary of states surrounding North Carolina. The intersection point of the dashed lines and the upward sloping red line, representing all possible wages for DPS youth counselors, shows the number of youth counselor positions that would need to be eliminated to achieve that salary. For instance, in order for the average DPS youth counselors to make the same as the average youth counselors in Tennessee, DPS would have to eliminate 30 vacant positions, leaving it with the ability to hire a maximum of 753 youth counselors.

The dotted horizontal lines along the graph indicate the average youth counselor salary across the United States. All 50 states are broken into quintiles, or five equal groups. These groups are separated by benchmarks that delineate the split between groups of ten states. For example, as long as the red upward sloping line is above the lowest dotted line but below the second lowest dotted line, North Carolina youth counselor salaries are in the bottom 20-40% of states. The section of the red line that is above the second lowest dotted line but below the third lowest dotted line is the range between which youth counselor salaries are approximately equivalent to the middle 40-60% of states. Because the highest dotted line is higher than the top of the upward sloping red line, even if DPS eliminated 100% of its youth counselor vacancies and redistributed the lapsed salaries to increase the wages of all currently employed youth counselors, North Carolina would still not be in the top 20% of highest paying states.

With the data available to the Office of the State Auditor, we were unable to determine the optimal wage for youth counselors. That requires further investigation into the optimal number of staff at DPS, the optimal skill levels of such staff, and the elasticity of labor supply for youth counselors in different regions across the state. For instance, simply because youth counselor wages increase does not mean that more people will be interested in the positions or that applicants will be equally as interested in working at each facility. In other words, just because a State agency can eliminate some vacant positions and raise wages for the rest of its workers, there is no guarantee that the remaining vacancies will be filled. This is also not proof that DPS does not need additional funding for youth counselor salaries. If DPS requires all vacancies to be filled or enough that those eliminated cannot sufficiently raise the wages of the others, then DPS may additional funding to fill the gap. ## Slow administrative processes were the second most common cause of long-term vacancies according to State agencies.

Across all State agencies, 10% of long-term vacancies were attributed to administrative lag. Administrative lag refers to positions taking time to be repurposed, relocated, or processed in some way. This lag can happen internally within a State agency's human resources department or be caused by a slow process at the Office of State Human Resources. Because of their interconnectedness, these reasons have been grouped into a single category for the online dashboard.[68] A detailed breakdown of the individual subcategories is included below.

- "Reclassification" applies to any response where the State agency indicated that the position was being repurposed or reallocated, changing either the position's salary or responsibilities. The recommendations provided at the end of this section include ideas for streamlining the reclassification process.
- The general category "Other Administration" captures any responses that mention the problem broadly, in no specific terms, or explicitly cite multiple reasons for the vacancy length.
- "Transferred Position" refers to a hiring lag that is caused because a position is changing facilities or departments. Though the position itself is not changing, because new people are responsible for integrating the position into their team, more time than usual is needed for the hiring process to be completed.
- "Slow HR Process" is a category that captures any slow process on the part of the State agency to hire. This could mean a slow interview process or not processing applicants quickly as they come in. In other words, this is not a lag caused by coordination with an external party.

Eleven State agencies with 15 long-term vacancies or more (57%) attributed more than 10% of their long-term vacancies to administrative lag. These State agencies are listed below.

| State Agency Name | Percent of Long-Term Vacancies Attributed to Administrative Lag | Number of Long-Term Vacancies Attributed to Administrative Lag |
|---|---|---|
| Dept. of Revenue | 61.1% | 11/18 |
| Dept. of Justice | 46.3% | 25/54 |
| Dept. of Information Technology | 43.0% | 37/86 |
| Dept. of Transportation | 41.2% | 346/838 |
| Dept. of Administration | 30.3% | 10/33 |
| Dept. of Public Safety | 24.0% | 98/409 |
| Dept. of Insurance | 19.2% | 5/26 |
| Dept. of Natural & Cultural Resources | 19.1% | 22/115 |
| State Bureau of Investigation | 15.7% | 8/51 |
| Dept. of Environmental Quality | 15.7% | 13/83 |
| Dept. of Agriculture & Consumer Services | 11.1% | 14/126 |

The Department of Revenue Attributes 61% of its Long-Term Vacancies to Administrative Lag

The Department of Revenue (DOR) has a significant number of long-term vacancies attributed to administrative lag because of its volume of reclassifications. DOR is a large State agency with a low vacancy rate because when a position becomes vacant, DOR immediately reconsider its reclassification and then starts the reclassification process or posts the position. Because of DOR's low vacancy rate, its high administrative lag rate is not a cause for concern.

Figure 36. Number of long-term vacancies attributed to administrative lag by State agency

Figure 37. State agencies with the highest proportion of long-term vacancies attributed to administrative lag

7% of long-term vacancies were due to funding uncertainties or funding cuts according to State agencies.

Across all State agencies, 7% of long-term vacancies were attributed to funding concerns. These funding concerns have led to a yearly total of $38 million in lapsed salaries, with an average of $27.6 million in State funding and $10.3 million in federal funding going unused for salaries each year.[69]

According to the Office of the Governor, some agencies may have positions that were included in this category that did not have funding attached and would be better placed in the “Unfunded Placeholder” category. However, no documentation or additional information was provided as to the specific positions this applied to. Therefore, these positions were included in the "Funding Concerns" category.

[69] From August 2024 through August 2025.

22% of long-term vacancies were never posted by State agencies.[70]

State agencies have not posted 1,914 of 8,845 (22%) long-term vacancies, signaling a lack of intent to fill these positions and, in some cases, the State agencies' intent to generate lapsed salary. However, there may be legitimate reasons in which positions may not be posted. During OSA's analysis, auditors removed:

- 278 positions which were planned for elimination,
- 546 unfunded placeholder positions,[71]
- 191 positions in the process of being reclassified or transferred, and
- 166 positions described as purposefully kept vacant due to statutory requirements.[72]

With those exclusions, 733 positions were never posted without a reason or 8% of all long-term vacancies.

Twelve State agencies with 15 or more long-term vacancies (57%) have never posted without reason more than 10% of their long-term vacancies. These State agencies are listed below in descending order based on the percent of their long-term vacancies that were never posted without reason and the associated lapsed salary such positions generate from State appropriations and receipts.

[70] Agencies did not provide an original posting date for these positions.

[71] Unfunded placeholders are usually federal positions which do not receive funding but are kept in OSHR's system in case they need to be hired quickly. For example, the Department of Commerce's Division of Employment Security Commission (DES) is made up of unfunded federal positions reserved for an unemployment crisis. Keeping these positions within OSHR's system allows for rapid hiring if the need arises.

[72] For example, N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4) states that if either the House or the Senate of the North Carolina General Assembly propose eliminating positions in their budget proposal, the State agency must keep the position vacant until the State budget is passed. It is unclear exactly how many positions in the dataset N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4) applies to, so auditors removed vacancies that explicitly mention a statute in their vacancy explanation.

The Governor Morehead School for the Blind Has Not Posted 39% of its Long-Term Vacancies

The Governor Morehead School for the Blind does not have posting dates for any of its long-term vacancies, 39% of which should have been posted. This is because the School experienced difficulty submitting its posting dates to OSA. However, because the School was recently broken out as its own State agency and has been working to staff its human resources department,[75] the School's lack of hiring information is not a cause for concern at this point. OSA does not recommend eliminating any positions from any special education State agency in North Carolina.

[73] Excludes federal funding and highway funds.

The Department of Health and Human Services Has Not Posted 12% of its Long-Term Vacancies

The Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) does not have posting dates for 23% of its long-term vacancies, 12% of which should have been posted or eliminated. 72 of these 363 (19.8%) positions are for facilities that are under construction or renovation and may still be generating lapsed salary in the interim. 141 of these positions never posted are from a facility that has closed and are planned for elimination.

9% of Long-Term Vacancies are Kept Purposefully Vacant by State Agencies

The reason given by State agencies for 8.7% (773) of long-term vacancies was that the positions had been purposefully left vacant for monetary or operational reasons.

Seven State agencies with 15 or more long-term vacancies (33%) reported that they purposefully did not fill more than 5% of their long-term vacancies. These State agencies are listed below in descending order based on the percentage of the long-term vacancies they kept purposefully vacant and the associated lapsed salary the vacancies generate from State appropriations and receipts.

| State Agency Name | Percent of Purposefully Vacant Long-Term Vacancies | Number of Purposefully Vacant Long-Term Vacancies | State Lapsed Salary Generated from Long-Term Vacancies Per Year[76] |
|---|---|---|---|
| State Highway Patrol | 70.2% | 113/161 | $7,082,276 |
| Eastern NC School for the Deaf | 42.6% | 12/28 | $466,656 |
| Dept. of Environmental Quality | 21.7% | 18/83 | $1,486,227 |
| Dept. of Administration | 18.2% | 6/33 | $234,060 |
| Dept. of Health & Human Services | 16.4% | 505/3,074 | $17,067,405 |
| Dept. of Agriculture & Consumer Services | 10.3% | 13/126 | $599,812 |
| Dept. of Transportation | 5.4% | 46/838 | $1,016,695 |

This data, as well as more interactive graphs and tables, are available at OSA's online dashboard viewable here.

The State Highway Patrol Has Purposefully Kept 70% of its Long-Term Vacancies Open

The State Highway Patrol (SHP) has not filled a significant number of its long-term vacancies. According to Commander Freddy Johnson, the State Highway Patrol needs to keep these vacant positions open to maintain the SHP's operating budget. In an interview with OSA, Commander Johnson reported that SHP buys 350 new vehicles a year, which constitutes just a portion of the $28 million SHP annually spends on vehicles and fuel out of its $39 million operating budget. Consequentially, Commander Johnson noted that SHP has 240 trooper vacancies to maintain the current budget and will need at least 70 more so that the lapsed salary generated from those roles can offset rising vehicle costs and fund additional equipment required for Capitol Police and License and Theft Bureau positions recently placed under SHP's authority. He also noted that the State Police starting salary ranks 49th out of 50 states at $55,000. So while most of SHP vacancies are classified as "Purposefully Vacant", they also suffer from low compensation.

The Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf Has Purposefully Kept 43% of its Long-Term Vacancies Open

The Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf has not filled a significant number of its long-term vacancies. However, these positions remain in OSHR's system in anticipation of future enrollment increases. Therefore, the number of vacancies that the School has purposefully left unfilled is not a cause for concern at this point. OSA does not recommend eliminating any positions from any special education State agency in North Carolina.

[76] Excludes federal funding and highway funds.

10% of long-term vacancies were not explained by State agencies.

State agencies did not provide OSA with an explanation for the length of 10.1% (897) of long-term vacancies. While at times State agencies reported that these vacancies were caused by promotions, retirements, deaths, and other reasons, the agencies did not explain the length of the continued vacancy itself. State agencies also left some responses blank or responded with "N/A" or "Data Not Available," even after following-up with OSA for further clarification and being informed by OSA that any responses left blank would be presumed missing.[77] The frequency of these responses indicates a gap in internal administration and reporting procedures in some State agencies that should be addressed.

Seven State agencies with 15 or more long-term vacancies (33%) never explained the reason for more than 5% of their long-term vacancies. These State agencies are listed below in descending order based on the percent of long-term vacancies each left unexplained and the associated lapsed salary such positions generate from State appropriations and receipts.

[77] Please note that on the DAVE Act public dashboard, some "N/As" and blanks have been converted to "No info/excluded" to designate information that State agencies should have but did not provide. The remaining "N/As" represent values that were unneeded, given another response on that position.

The Governor Morehead School for the Blind Has Not Explained 28% of its Long-Term Vacancies

The Governor Morehead School for the Blind has not explained a significant number of its long-term vacancies. However, because the School was recently broken out as its own State agency and has been working to staff its human resources department, the School's lack of hiring information is not a cause for concern. OSA does not recommend eliminating any positions from any special education State agency in North Carolina.

[78] Excludes federal funding and highway funds.

Recommendations

- State agency budgets should accurately reflect the actual expenditures necessary to deliver services and fulfill statutory responsibilities to North Carolina. When a State agency decides to stop hiring for a vacant position, that position should be evaluated for reclassification or abolishment. State agencies should "true up" their budget by detailing specific needs to the legislature to ensure essential services are maintained.[79] For example, State agencies should budget for temporary workers and overtime pay where appropriate, but they should also consider increasing the salaries through reclassification. If lapsed salaries remain after all long-term vacancies have been abolished or reclassified and any associated pay raises are covered, the State agency may use those funds as permitted by N.C.G.S. § 143C-6-9(a) until the next budget cycle. In subsequent budget request, the State agency should include the amount of lapsed salaries and their current uses. This approach keeps expenditures aligned with approved budgets and strengthens oversight and accountability.
- Tracking and reporting lapsed salary usage should be improved. Pursuant to N.C.G.S. § 143C-6-9(c), State agencies are required to report the use of lapsed salary funds at the end of each fiscal year to the Office of State Budget and Management (OSBM), including the total amount of accrued lapsed salary funds by funding source, the total number of full-time equivalent positions compromising the lapsed salary funds, the total expenditure of lapsed salaries by purpose, and the legal authorization to expend lapsed salary funds. However, most State agencies only track the account where funds are moved, as opposed to actual expenditures or use of the lapsed salary funds. This lack of detailed tracking makes it difficult for the executive branch to evaluate how effectively agencies manage these funds. It also limits the legislative branch's ability to assess whether appropriations are being used as intended.

State agencies that closely track the use of their lapsed salary funds often hinder the effectiveness of such tracking because their lapsed salary reports are often submitted to OSBM long after the statutory deadline has passed. Such untimely responses prevent expenditures from being reevaluated in real time. For instance, DHHS has averaged 296 days late on its lapsed salary report since 2017.[80] Similar delays make lapsed salary reports ineffective for real-time decision-making. Diligent, detailed tracking would give State agencies the ability to both make tough, accurate budget decisions in real-time and to submit a report to OSBM soon after the fiscal year ends.

- Any position that meets certain criteria should be eliminated. While the use of lapsed salaries has become a part of the funding necessary to maintain the vital functions of State agencies, the elimination of certain long-term vacant positions that meet the criteria listed below should be considered. There are many criteria by which long-term vacant positions can be identified and eliminated. Regardless of what criteria are chosen, it is important to consider whether a State agency should receive the same amount of appropriations from the General Assembly after such positions are eliminated as it did prior to their elimination.

  It is also worth noting that the criteria listed below may not affect all State agencies equally and exceptions to the recommendations contained herein are included and noted in the appendices. Each recommendation reflects the number of positions within the 8,845 long-term vacancies that satisfy the applicable criteria for elimination. The recommendations provided below are listed in ascending order of least to most disruptive to the State agencies, as was subjectively determined by OSA. A full list of the impacted position numbers is included in appendices B through J of this report. Please note that the list was accurate as of October 1, 2025, and that some vacancies may have been filled, reclassified, or eliminated since then. Positions undergoing active litigation should not be eliminated, as reinstatement is a primary remedy when an employee is found to have been improperly separated.

  a. Eliminate positions State agencies have kept purposefully vacant.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 680 | $30,215,463 | $10,482,017 | $19,733,446 |

State agencies explained that these long-term vacancies arose because the agencies hold certain positions solely for the lapsed salary they generate. Such positions are not publicly posted because the agencies rely on the lapsed salaries to meet their operational needs.

Notable exceptions to this category include positions from the Department of Agriculture & Consumer Services, State Bar, State Lottery Commission, and the Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf. In anticipation of rapid hiring needs, these State agencies respectively created but have not and will not post them until the need arises.

b. Eliminate positions vacant for five years or more.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 140 | $6,356,095 | $1,859,142 | $4,496,953 |

140 positions have been vacant for five years or more. Notable exceptions to this criterion include positions which were filled between August 6, 2025, the date the DAVE Act was signed into law, and October 1, the date OSA's data collection process ended pursuant to Section 2E.2.(c) of Session Law 2025-89. Filled positions have already been removed from all recommendation elimination categories, but it is important to check for positions that were filled after October 1 but before the passage of any legislation that eliminates long-term vacancies positions to avoid incidentally eliminating filled positions. Other notable exceptions to this criterion include unfunded placeholders, largely from the Department of Commerce's Division of Employment Security Commission and from the Eastern North Carolina School for the Blind. This criterion includes positions undergoing reclassification, transferring of facilities or divisions, or undergoing elimination. Some might be held under N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4) because a proposed budget reduction by either house of the North Carolina General Assembly eliminates the position. Regardless of external factors, however, the positions identified in Appendix C have been vacant for at least five years.

For the full list of positions see Appendix C.

c. Eliminate positions vacant for three years or more.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1,159 | $55,597,580 | $27,851,246 | $27,746,334 |

1,159 positions have been vacant for three years or more. Notable exceptions to this criterion include positions which were filled between August 6, 2025, the date the DAVE Act was signed into law, and October 1, the date OSA's data collection process ended pursuant to Section 2E.2.(c) of Session Law 2025-89. Filled positions have already been removed from all recommendation elimination categories, but it is important to check for positions that were filled after October 1 but before the passage of any legislation that eliminates long-term vacancies to avoid incidentally eliminating filled positions. Other notable exceptions to this criterion include unfunded placeholders, largely from the Department of Commerce's Division of Employment Security Commission, and positions from the Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf and the Governor Morehead School for the Blind. This criterion includes positions undergoing reclassification, transferring of facilities or divisions, or undergoing elimination. Some might be held under N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4) because a proposed budget reduction by either house of the North Carolina General Assembly eliminates the position. Regardless of external factors, however, these positions have been vacant for at least three years.

For the full list of positions see Appendix D.

d. Eliminate positions vacant for two years or more.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2,554 | $120,873,358 | $69,686,573 | $51,186,785 |

2,554 positions have been vacant for two years or more. Notable exceptions to this criterion include positions which were filled between August 6, 2025, the passing of the DAVE Act, and October 1, when the data collection process ended. Filled positions have already been removed from all recommendation elimination categories, but it is important to check for positions that have been filled after October 1 until any legislation eliminating positions to avoid eliminating a currently filled position. Other notable exceptions to this criterion include unfunded placeholders, largely from the Department of Commerce and its Division of Employment Security Commission, and positions from the Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf, North Carolina School for the Deaf, and the Governor Morehead School for the Blind. This criterion includes positions undergoing reclassification, transferring of facilities or divisions, or undergoing elimination. Some might be held under N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4) because a proposed budget reduction by either house of the North Carolina General Assembly eliminates the position. Regardless of external factors, however, these positions have been vacant for at least two years.

For the full list of positions see Appendix E.

e. Eliminate positions never posted[81] and unexplained.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 55 | $2,303,047 | $897,324 | $1,405,723 |

55 long-term vacancies were both never posted and the reason for their continued vacancy for more than six months was not specifically explained by their State agency. Reasons given by the State agency might have ranged to “Active Hiring” or “Former employee resigned.” However, these positions have never been posted.

For the full list of positions see Appendix F.

[81] Refers to the official advertisement of a job vacancy to attract applicants.

f. Eliminate positions with funding concerns that were never posted.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 135 | $6,147,855 | $3,988,689 | $2,159,166 |

135 long-term vacancies were never posted[82] by their State agency, with the State agency citing a funding concern as the reason. Some of these vacancies are statutorily required to remain unfilled in accordance with N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4), which states that if either the North Carolina House or Senate included such positions for elimination in their proposed budget reductions, the State agency must hold them open until a budget is passed.

For the full list of positions see Appendix G.

g. Eliminate positions vacant for one year or more with no applicants.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 239 | $15,668,031 | $5,125,013 | $10,543,018 |

239 long-term vacancies have been vacant for at least one year and regardless of posting status, have received no applications. While effort of some kind to fill these positions may have been shown by the State agencies in question, either the effort was insufficient or the position had responsibilities that were not aligned with salary expectations. These criteria included positions undergoing reclassification, transferring of facilities or divisions, or undergoing elimination. Some might be held under N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4) because a proposed budget reduction by either house of the North Carolina General Assembly eliminates the position. Regardless of external factors, however, these positions have been vacant for at least a year with no response from the labor market.

For the full list of positions see Appendix H.

h. Eliminate unexplained positions.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 738 | $40,597,885 | $23,150,360 | $17,447,525 |

State agencies did not provide OSA a specific reason why these 738 long-term vacancies have remained vacant for at least six months. While several State agencies responded by saying “Active Hiring” or “Former employee resigned,” such agencies never described the reason the positions were not filled in less than six months.

[82] Refers to the official advertisement of a job vacancy to attract applicants.

i. Eliminate positions vacant for one year or more.

| Number of Positions | Annual Total | Appropriations | Receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| 4,514 | $217,862,794 | $138,597,117 | $79,265,677 |

4,514 long-term vacancies have been vacant for at least one year. Notable exceptions to this criterion include positions which were filled between August 6, 2025, the passing of the DAVE Act, and October 1, when the data collection process ended. Filled positions have already been removed from all recommendation elimination categories, but it is important to check for positions that have been filled after October 1 until any legislation eliminating positions to avoid eliminating a currently filled position.

Other notable exceptions to this criterion include unfunded placeholders, largely from the Department of Commerce and its Division of Employment Security Commission, and positions from the Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf, North Carolina School for the Deaf, and the Governor Morehead School for the Blind. This criterion includes positions undergoing reclassification, transferring of facilities or divisions, or undergoing elimination. Some might be held under N.C.G.S. § 143C-5-4(b)(4) because a proposed budget reduction by either house of the North Carolina General Assembly eliminates the position. Regardless of external factors, however, these positions have been vacant for at least a year.

For the full list of positions see Appendix J.

- North Carolina salaries should be competitive with those offered to similar positions in surrounding states. If a position type shows a high vacancy rate and the State agency has been unable to fill the role despite repeated efforts to do so, the State agency should conduct a comprehensive evaluation of the position relative to comparable roles in surrounding states. This analysis should determine: (1) the optimal number of positions needed to fulfill the agency's mission, (2) the position's elasticity in relation to labor supply and demand, and (3) an appropriate target salary based on market conditions. If the agency's evaluation finds that the position is underpaid, the North Carolina General Assembly should consider appropriating additional funds to address the pay disparity and support competitive compensation.
- Administrative delays in the hiring process can be reduced by increasing accountability and streamlining workflows. State agencies reported that 10% of long-term vacancies occurred due to internal processes that slowed job postings and other hiring steps. To address this, State agencies should identify internal bottlenecks such as prolonged vacancy reclassifications, position transfers, and inefficient human resources procedures. This can be achieved by conducting process mapping from vacancy to onboarding and documenting the time taken at each stage. Comparing actual timelines against established benchmarks will reveal where delays occur. Once bottlenecks are identified, agencies should implement structured timelines for each step, assign clear accountability to responsible staff, and consider automation tools or centralized approval systems to accelerate decision-making.

- Many State agencies should improve their tracking of hiring and vacancies. State agencies failed to explain the reason for 10% of long-term vacancies or 897 in total. When a State agency cannot explain why a position has been vacant for several years, it could be an indication that the State agency does not actively assess its staffing needs or evaluate the continued necessity of positions as they become vacant. Effective vacancy management requires more than recording data. It involves active oversight and analysis to ensure positions are filled in a timely manner and staffing needs are continuously evaluated.

  State agencies should establish clear documentation standards for each stage of the hiring process; implement centralized tracking systems to monitor vacancy status; and create structured timelines for reclassifying, posting, and hiring. For example, the Department of Transportation stated that it maintains detailed records of each position vacancy and adheres to rigorous timelines for each stage of the hiring process.

  To address root causes and implement targeted strategies to reduce long-term vacancies, State agencies must analyze vacancy data. This may be done by regularly categorizing reasons for delays, identifying patterns across departments or job types, and assessing the operational impact of prolonged vacancies. By executing these measures, State agencies ensure accountability and support sound personnel management.

Objectives, Scope, and Methodology

Objective, Scope, and Methodology

The objective of this audit was to analyze long-term vacancies and associated lapsed salaries across State agencies. Specifically, this audit:

1. Identified all positions that have remained vacant for six months or more as of August 6, 2025, including:
   - The total number of positions vacant over this period,
   - The length of the vacancies, and
   - Whether these vacancies were posted[83] and received any applications.
2. Identified the amount of lapsed salary generated from long-term vacancies, including:
   - The amount of lapsed salary generated per year and
   - The total amount of lapsed salary generated since the positions' original vacancy date.
3. Identified the reasons, according to each State agency, for the length of their long-term vacancies.
4. Provided recommendations:
   - To improve the transparency and accuracy of reporting long-term vacancies, associated generated lapsed salaries, and the use of lapsed salaries by State agencies; and
   - For positions that could be eliminated based on long-term vacancy analysis.

To achieve the audit objective, auditors:

- Sent data request forms to State agencies requesting a listing of all positions within that State agency that have remained vacant for six months or more (long-term vacancies).[84] With regard to long-term vacancies, auditors requested:
  - A description of each position (including duties of the position),
  - The original position vacancy date,
  - The dates of any postings or repostings of the positions,
  - Additional recruitment information including the number of applicants received, referrals, interviews conducted and offers extended for the position,
  - Explanations for the length of the vacancies,

[83] Refers to the official advertisement of a job vacancy to attract applicants.
[84] Defined as vacant on or before February 6, 2025, or six months before August 6, 2025 (the date Session Law 2025-89 was approved by the General Assembly).

- Any difficulties the State agency experiences or has experienced attempting to fill their vacancies, and
- If applicable, any State agency plans to abolish long-term vacant positions.

- State agency submissions were reviewed for completeness. When applicable and available, existing State records of long-term vacancies[85] were obtained from the Integrated HR/Payroll System (BEACON) and reconciled to State agency submissions for accuracy and completeness. If there was a question left unanswered or a response that needed clarification, State agencies were contacted again with a targeted request.

- Analyzed State agency submissions for number of long-term vacancies, length of the vacancies, and State agency explanations for the length of the vacancies.
  - State agency submitted data and responses were cleaned and processed.
  - Vacancy explanations were grouped into standardized categories representing common reasons for long-term vacancies, such as low compensation or funding concerns. Any responses that could not be classified into the standardized categories were sent back to State agencies for further clarification.
  - The cleaned and processed State agency response dataset was then reviewed by auditors to detect trends and identify State agencies showing notable variations in relative number or length of position vacancies.
  - These flagged State agencies were contacted for further context to inform the respective section(s) of the report in which their long-term vacancies and the reasons for the long-term vacancies for such were addressed.

- Lapsed salary data was obtained from the State's Business Intelligence (BOBJ) system[86] managed by the Office of the State Controller by running targeted queries for the selected time periods and State agencies then exporting the relevant reports.

- Obtained from the State agencies' description, in their own words, how generated lapsed salary funds are generally used.

- Compared BLS data for positions identified as high-need based on elevated vacancy rates. This analysis included benchmarking these positions against similar roles in neighboring states to assess regional labor market trends and competitiveness.

- Interviewed State agencies as necessary for further understanding of long-term vacancies and lapsed salary use and reporting to inform recommendations.

- Reviewed applicable laws, regulations, policies, and procedures relevant to State hiring [86] The Business Intelligence (BOBJ) system, managed by the North Carolina Office of the State Controller (OSC), is the State's enterprise reporting platform built on SAP BusinessObjects. It provides secure access to financial, payroll, and HR data, enabling agencies and auditors to run queries, generate reports, and analyze trends for oversight and decision-making.

practices and lapsed salary use and reporting.

Because of the test nature and other inherent limitations of an audit, together with limitations of any system of internal and management controls, this audit would not necessarily disclose all performance weaknesses or lack of compliance.

This audit was designed to identify, for those programs, activities, or functions included within the scope of the audit, deficiencies in internal controls significant to the audit objectives. As a basis for evaluating internal controls, auditors applied the internal control guidance contained in professional auditing standards. However, this audit does not provide a basis for rendering an opinion on internal control, and consequently, OSA has not issued such an opinion.

Auditors conducted this performance audit in accordance with generally accepted government auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain sufficient, appropriate evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the auditors' findings and conclusions based on the audit objectives. OSA believes that the evidence obtained provides a reasonable basis for the auditors' findings and conclusions based on the audit objectives.

State Auditor's Response

State Auditor's Response

The Office of the State Auditor (OSA) is required to provide additional explanation when an agency's response could potentially cloud an issue, mislead the reader, or inappropriately minimize the importance of auditor findings.

Generally Accepted Government Auditing Standards state:

> When the audited entity's comments are inconsistent or in conflict with the findings, conclusions, or recommendations in the draft report, the auditors should evaluate the validity of the audited entity's comments. If the auditors disagree with the comments, they should explain in the report their reasons for disagreement.

The Office of the Governor (Governor's Office) response included statements that could cloud an issue, mislead the reader, or minimize the importance of the auditor findings. It should be noted that other respondent responses to this report contained similar misleading statements, particularly those from cabinet agencies.

In response to these statements and to ensure the availability of complete and accurate information for report users, OSA offers the following clarifications.

In its response, the Governor's Office included several statements questioning the accuracy of lapsed salary amounts and the creditability of auditor conclusions. For example,

> …the analysis shared in the draft report and public dashboard released on December 30, 2025, is inaccurate in its accounting of long-term vacancies and lapsed salary, undermining the credibility of its conclusions.
> …the publicly released finding that 8,846 long-term vacancies have generated a cumulative $ 1.04 billion in lapsed salary overcounts the impact of long-term vacancies by hundreds of millions of dollars.
> …the report acknowledges a significant degree of variation and nuance…yet these topline conclusions and data figures ignore those same distinctions.

OSA's reported figures are neither inaccurate nor overstated. The Governor Office's response is misleading because OSA's topline figures are accurate summary statistics and the recommendations do consider the nuance discussed in the report. OSA acknowledges a degree of variation and nuance among different vacancy categories exist particularly when it comes to the vacant position's funding source. Specifically, receipt-funded or federally funded positions may not always produce actual funds for the agencies to use. Additionally, certain long-term vacancies are unfunded placeholder positions. These characteristics are detailed and explained in the report and also filtered and identified on our public dashboard.

As our report states, "lapsed salary" was calculated as the dollar amount not expended for salary during the period in which a position was vacant and includes vacancies funded through state appropriations and receipts, as well as federal funds and grants. This terminology and methodology align with the Office of State Budget and Management's (OSBM) usage in its own annual lapsed salary report.[87] In OSBM's report, lapsed salary is generated from the General Fund as well as non–General Fund sources (which include receipts, federal, and the Highway Fund).

Further, it is very important to note that the potential cost savings within our report capture the nuances and distinctions mentioned in the Governor's Office response and are expanded upon in the body of the report. The clearest indication of this are the footnotes for Appendices B through J which explain the agencies or classifications of positions that were removed from consideration for elimination. Additionally, all dollar amounts given for potential cost savings are clearly separated between state appropriations and receipts, and exclude federal and known unfunded positions, to aid legislators and other decision-makers.

As already stated by the State Auditor, decision-makers should consider each agency's needs before implementing any position eliminations and should not make generalized conclusions based on the information presented in this report.

The Governor, legislators, and the citizens of North Carolina should consider these clarifications when evaluating the responses of the Governor's Office and other agencies to this audit's findings and recommendations.

Jacob and Jack,

Thank you and the OSA team for this update, we much appreciate the opportunity to respond and only have one recommendation.

If possible, we recommend the report clarify the agency name from the Administrative Office of the Courts to "Judicial Branch" or "Judicial Department." The Administrative Office of the Courts assists with reporting on position figures in local courts and other judicial department agencies, however, the report's figures include many jobs not within AOC and outside of our agency authority. For example, AOC is a separate agency from IDS. Local courthouse positions like ADAs, clerks, judges, magistrates, also are not within AOC and those positions are outside of AOC's hiring authority. Alternatively, the report could notate that reported figures in the AOC section include jobs outside of AOC's authority or within other agencies in the court system.

Thank you again for your time on the report and consideration of this feedback, have a great week back.

Good afternoon, Jacob,
Thank you for touching base and my apologies for not confirming earlier.

I will note for context that the System Office has not historically held positions vacant for the purpose of creating lapsed salary. As you can see from our low vacancy rate, we have made a very intentional effort to fill our positions. As noted on your report of the 5 positions that you identified, 2 had been identified for elimination due to expired funding (65023105) and (65034348) , one was filled (60088077) and 2 were in the process of being restructured.

As of today, of the two positions that were being restructured, one has been eliminated (60088012) and the other is in the interview stage of recruitment (60088034). We hope to fill this position within the next week.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

The Department of Administration's Response to the Office of the State Auditor's Report

The Department of Administration (DOA) appreciates the Office of the State Auditor's review of long-term vacancies and lapsed salaries conducted pursuant to Session Law 2025-89 (the DAVE Act) and provides the following clarification regarding the 33 positions attributed to DOA.

Vacancy Status

It is worth noting that half of the positions identified as vacant by the audit are supported by receipts or federal grants, not by state appropriations, and do not generate lapsed salary when vacant. In addition, many of the vacancies identified in the audit are filled.

| Vacant Positions Attributed to DOA - 33 | |
|---|---|
| 15 | Filled (7 FTE; 8 Temp) |
| 9 | Posted |
| 4 | Eliminated |
| 1 | Being eliminated |
| 3 | Being Reassessed |
| 1 | Reallocated within DOA |

One of the positions attributed to DOA is in the process of being eliminated. Fifteen of the 33 positions (45%) within DOA that were reported vacant are currently filled; 7 have been filled with full-time employees and 8 are filled with temporary or time-limited employees. The classification "purposefully vacant" fails to make clear that many of those positions are actively – and intentionally – staffed with temporary or time-limited personnel. For example, 8 of the receipt-based positions are routinely filled by temporary employees since the low salary prompts an extremely high turnover rate. In other cases, positions funded by time-limited federal funds are filled by temporary employees due to funding and time constraints.

Non-competitive funding makes it difficult for DOA to find qualified candidates for several jobs. The department is actively working to fill these vacancies, in many cases reposting them several times. Four of the positions historically have been so hard to fill due to low salaries that the agency must continuously post the jobs to find applicants willing to accept an FTE position. Uncertainty with federal funding caused delays in filling two other positions. As of 12/31/25, DOA is actively trying to fill 9 positions.

Of the 32 long-term vacancies within DOA, 4 positions were intentionally left vacant because the program they supported and their funding source both expired. These positions have been removed. A fifth position was moved to another division to meet increasing needs.

Long-term vacancies are routinely evaluated by department management to determine whether positions should be filled, reclassified, consolidated, or eliminated, based on service needs, funding source restrictions, and labor-market conditions. For example, given recent changes in parking operations and inventory, the agency is reviewing 3 such positions in the Parking Division to determine their best use.

Funding Source & Impacts

As mentioned previously, 16 of the 33 vacant positions (50%) within DOA are not state-appropriated positions; 3 of these positions are federally funded, while 13 are supported by receipts generated by DOA. Thus, vacancies in these positions generate no lapsed salary reserves that could impact State appropriations or the General Fund.

Of the remaining positions, 12 are State-appropriated positions and 6 of these have since been filled. As mentioned previously, 4 of the positions are routinely difficult to fill due to non-competitive salaries and thus are posted continuously. One of the 12 positions was reassigned to another DOA division to meet increasing needs, and another is currently posted. Total financial impact of the 6 State-appropriated positions that remained vacant as of 12/31/25 is $633,830.

As with other state agencies, keeping the Department of Administration fully staffed is challenging. Salaries that have not kept pace with similar private sector positions make hiring harder. Within the public sector, the Department must also compete with larger state agencies that are often able to offer higher salaries. And yet, even with these challenges, the Administration Department averages about a 12% vacancy rate, below the average for many other state agencies.

The agency respectfully submits that, when viewed in funding and operational context, the vacancies identified in the report reflect deliberate workforce and budget management decisions made within statutory and fiscal constraints, rather than unmanaged positions or improper use of lapsed salary funds.

The DOA worked quickly and cooperatively throughout the data collection process to provide requested information to the Office of State Auditor, reaching out repeatedly to verify OSA had received the information needed. The agency stands ready to provide any additional information requested regarding any of the positions.

Dear Auditor Boliek:

Thank for the opportunity to review the draft report, State Agencies of North Carolina: Long-Term State Vacancies and Their Lapsed Salaries ("Report"). While recognizing the tremendous thought and effort that went into the report, NCDAC offers three key observations:

- As the auditor's team recognizes, correctional officer vacancies stem from low pay, and higher pay would lead to lower vacancies.
- Nurse vacancies at NCDAC also stem from low pay – a conclusion the report reaches for nurses at the NC Department of Health and Human Services (NCDHHS) that applies equally to the nurses at NCDAC.
- Abolishing positions at NCDAC without increasing the agency's base budget to cover the real cost of running our state correctional agency would cripple operations and endanger public safety.

In addition to these observations, we conclude with a correction and an update.

Correctional Officer Vacancies Reflect Low Salaries

We appreciate the auditor's team recognizing that low compensation is the most common cause for long-term vacancies; that NCDAC correctional officers "are paid at a lower rate by the State of North Carolina according to a comparative analysis of other states"; and that "difficult working conditions, and long hours can cause employees to leave after just a year or two."[1] That is the challenge we face.

To address this challenge, NCDAC agrees with the report that "North Carolina salaries should be competitive with those offered for similar positions in surrounding states,"[2] as well as salaries offered at county jails and federal prisons. If NCDAC offered competitive salaries to our correctional officers, our vacancies would decline and our capacity to operate prisons safely and effectively would increase.

The report appears to understate the gap in correctional officer salary between North Carolina and other states. The report relies on Bureau of Labor Statistics ("BLS") state averages, and the state average for North Carolina encompasses county detention centers that typically pay detention officers more than NCDAC can pay correctional officers. For this reason, as the report acknowledges, "State-employed correctional officers in North Carolina may be paid even less than the BLS average statistics convey."[3]

While the report states that Georgia has a lower average salary for correctional officers than North Carolina,[4] this statement appears to rely on 2021-2024 data[5] that may not fully account for increases in correctional officer pay in Georgia totaling 40 percent between Fiscal Year 2022-23 and Fiscal Year 2025-26.[6]

In addition to the BLS data analyzed by the auditor's team, we encourage policymakers to consider a recent state-by-state comparison conducted by NCDAC, showing that North Carolina pays the second lowest starting salary nationally, and trails its southeastern U.S. neighbors by close to $8,000.[7] (See Attachment A.)

[6] State-employed correctional officers in Georgia received a multi-step raise equaling $7,000 over SFYs 2023 and 2024. The Georgia General Assembly then provided a 4 percent salary increase, plus a $3,000 salary enhancement to correctional officers in SFY 2025 (effective July 1, 2024). More recently, the Georgia legislature provided a 4 percent increase to correctional officers for SFY 2026, increasing starting correctional officer pay to $45,806. By comparison, the NC General Assembly created a salary schedule for correctional officers in Session Law 2021-180 (signed into law in November 2021). Correctional Officer I positions were compensated initially at a starting salary of $33,130. Today, those same positions have a starting salary of $37,621, representing an almost 14 percent increase in starting salaries.
[7] NCDAC gathered this data from state correction agency websites and other publicly available information. We have shared the data with members of the General Assembly, the Governor's Office, and others.

Nurse Vacancies Reflect Low Salaries

Nurse vacancies also stem from comparatively low pay – a conclusion the auditor reaches for nurses at NCDHHS[8] that applies with equal force to the nurses at NCDAC. While NCDAC's vacancy rate is 49 percent for registered nurses (RNs) and 53 percent for licensed practical nurses (LPNs), salaries for RNs and LPNs at NCDAC (like salaries at NCDHHS) are well below the Bureau of Labor Statistics national averages cited in the report.[9]

How to Protect Public Safety While Abolishing Positions

The report notes that "[t]here could be an opportunity to decrease vacancies and increase employee retention by eliminating some existing long-term vacancies and redistributing the associated lapsed salary to the remaining vacancies and currently filled positions." At the same time, the report recommends that State agencies "true up" their budget by detailing specific needs to the legislature to ensure essential services are maintained.[10]

NCDAC wishes to underscore that these two recommendations – decreasing vacancies and ensuring essential services are maintained – go hand in hand. NCDAC's essential service is protecting public safety. To decrease NCDAC vacancies without providing sufficient funding to our core operations would cripple the agency's operations and endanger public safety. During the 2024-25 fiscal year, the agency used $212 million in lapsed salary to cover shortfalls in funding for medical needs, food and clothing for those in our custody, compensation for special teams, payroll, equipment, repairs, and other needs. That same pattern continues halfway through the 2025-26 fiscal year. Meanwhile, the estimated cost of deferred maintenance at NCDAC facilities stands at $1.48 billion.

If NCDAC vacancies are decreased, base budget funding should increase to reflect the true cost to the agency of protecting public safety. We welcome continued analysis, reflection and dialogue between NCDAC, the General Assembly, the Office of the State Auditor, and others on how best to achieve our shared goals of protecting public funds and protecting public safety.

Correction

The narrative on page 28 should be corrected as follows: "For instance, in order for the average DAC correctional officer to make the same as the average correctional officer in Virginia, DAC would have to eliminate 1,050 ~~2,100~~ vacant correctional officer positions, leaving DAC with the ability to hire a maximum of 6,897 ~~5,847~~ correctional officers."

Explanation: The narrative on page 28 refers to the chart on page 29, where the upward sloping red line (showing the positive relationship between eliminating vacancies and the new, higher salary for the correctional officers remain) crosses the blue dashed horizontal line (indicating the average correctional officer salary in Virginia) at 6,897 positions (not 5,847 positions as stated on page 28). 7,947 positions minus 6,897 positions equals 1,050 positions (not 2,100 positions as stated on page 28).

Updates

In October 2025, the Office of State Budget and Management recommended that NCDAC abolish a number of vacancies and use that funding to support the department's base budget and operational safety needs. In keeping with that recommendation, NCDAC abolished 1496 positions effective December 1, 2025 and an additional 68 positions effective December 22, 2025

Regarding the 128 NCDAC positions previously classified as "never posted / no reason," "purposefully vacant," "long term," or "unexplained,"

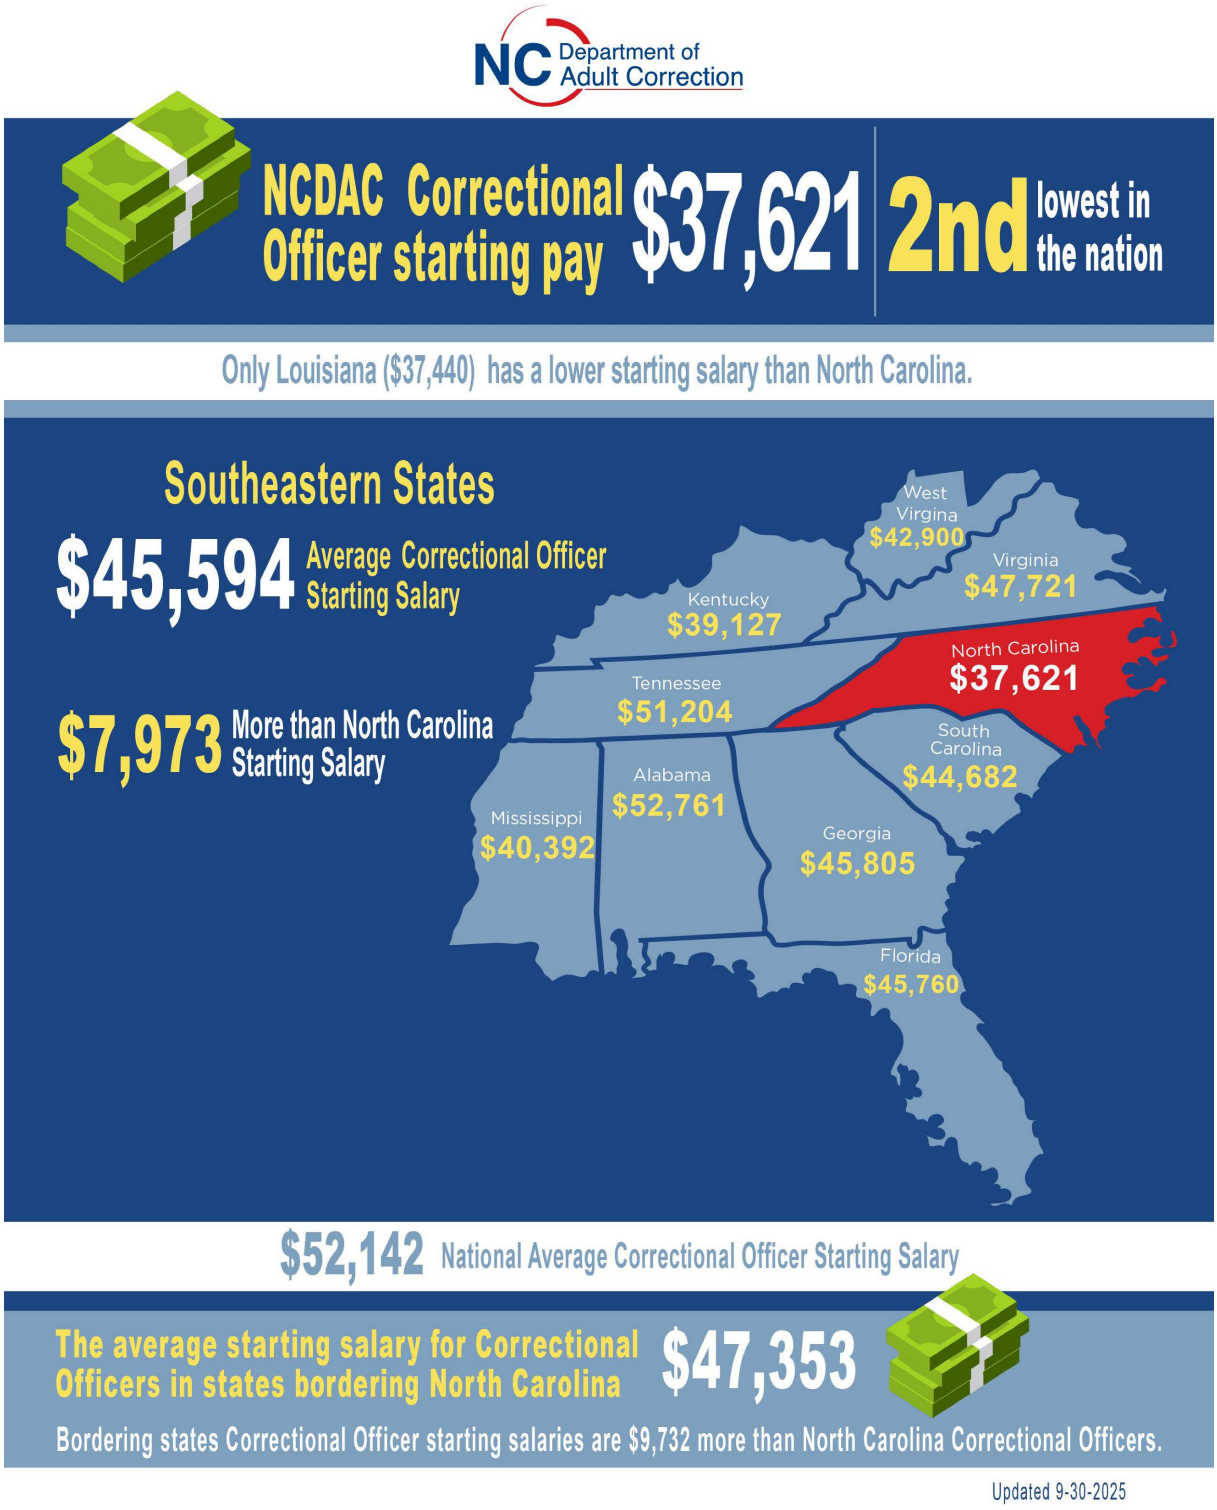

- 33 positions have now been hired or selected through active recruitment.
- 34 positions are actively posted or applicant screening is in process in Workday (the new state applicant tracking system).
- 59 positions were abolished.
- 2 positions lack funding.

Attachment B provides detailed updates on these 128 positions.

Please do not hesitate to reach out with questions or concerns. We look forward to continued discussion of these important matters.

Sincerely,

NC Department of Commerce's Response to Long -Term State Vacancies and their Lapsed Salaries Report:

The audit report identifies 684 total long-term vacancies for the Department of Commerce, that amount to $226,147,505. Of this total, 619 vacancies belong to the Division of Employment Security (DES)and Division of Workforce Solutions (DWS). Two Divisions that are both 100% federally funded. As the report indicates on page 51, 358 positions at DES and DWS are unfunded and categorized as "Reserve Positions". They are only to be filled in the event of an economic downturn when the federal funding is provided for the increase in FTEs. It has been 14 years since any of those positions have been funded by the federal government due to an economic downturn. The report notes this in footnote 67 on page 51, "Unfunded placeholders are usually federal positions which do not receive funding but are kept in OSHR's system in case they need to be hired quickly. For example, the Department of Commerce's Division of Employment Security Commission (DES) is made up of unfunded federal positions reserved for an unemployment crisis. Keeping these positions within OSHR's system allows for rapid hiring if the need arises.

Of the remaining 261 long-term vacancies at DES and DWS, they have not been filled because the federal government has not provided funding for them. Like the 358 Reserve positions, these 261 vacancies are unfunded. Unfunded federal positions do not generate lapsed salary. This is stated in the report on page 7, "Because federal funding is typically tied to positions being filled, federally funded vacancies do not generate lapsed salary".
The 619 unfunded positions at DES and DWS that do not generate lapse salary amount to $203,334,673.

The Division of Community Revitalization (DCR) was created within the Department of Commerce during the 24-25 fiscal year to focus on Hurricane Helene recovery efforts. In an effort to establish positions quickly with the CDBG-DR federal grant, multiple unfunded federal long-term vacant positions from DES and DWS were reclassified to DCR. As of the date of the audit report, 34 remain unfunded and vacant and are not generating lapsed salary. The 34 unfunded federal positions at DCR that do not generate lapsed salary amount to $18,696,940.

The total unfunded federal positions, not generating lapsed salary at DES, DWS and DCR are 653, that amount to $222,031,613.

Of the 684 vacancies at Commerce, 653 are unfunded federal positions, not generating lapsed salary. Therefore, Commerce does not benefit from this lapsed salary since it does not exist. For the purpose of the report, we feel the 653 unfunded positions that do not generate lapsed salaries should be excluded from the data.

- Figure 7 on page 8 is misleading as it includes unfunded federal positions
- and the graph below it on page 9 is inaccurate because the amount in the column labeled "State Lapsed Salary Generated from Long-term Vacancies erroneously includes unfunded federal positions at DES, DWS and DCR that do not generate lapsed salary.
- The chart on pages 51/52 is misleading because it includes the unfunded federal positions, particularly the Reserve positions that can only be used in an economic downturn
- The chart on page 53/54 is inaccurate because reason was provided, we stated the vacancies were unfunded federal positions that were either Reserve positions or unfunded due to federal funding cuts.

After excluding unfunded federal vacancies from the data, Commerce is left with 31 long-term vacancies funded by state appropriations or state receipts, that amount to $4,115,892. We feel this should be the data used in the report to reflect Commerce's actual funded long-term vacancies.

Subject: DEQ Response to Draft DAVE Act Report

Auditor Boliek,

Thank you for the opportunity to respond to this report and highlight some of the challenges that the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) faces in filling many of its long-term vacancies.

Below, we offer additional details and perspective so that a more accurate representation concerning DEQ long-term vacancies can be made in relation to the DAVE Act report:

1.) Low salary is a persistent challenge in filling vacant positions across the agency, especially specialized and technical positions such as engineers.

DEQ faces persistent challenges in hiring across many of its positions due to salary limitations that make it difficult to compete with the private sector and other government agencies. While only five of the positions in the DAVE Act report were flagged as having "Low Compensation" as their primary hiring challenge, it is an obstacle across most, if not all, long-term vacancies, and it is the root cause of other hiring challenges like repeated postings and position reclassifications. Many DEQ roles require specialized education, certifications, and experience, yet the compensation offered does not reflect these requirements, leading qualified candidates to seek higher-paying opportunities elsewhere.

These challenges are particularly acute for engineering positions. Engineers are in high demand across multiple industries that typically offer much higher salaries than DEQ. Although DEQ engineering positions often offer meaningful work in environmental protection and public health, the lower pay leads to prolonged vacancies, increased workloads for existing staff, and delays in permitting and inspections. The DAVE Act provided data from the Bureau of Labor Statistics that indicated engineers working for the State of NC make an average of $87,000 annually whereas the national average is $118,000. This salary gap between agency pay and the national average is even more pronounced at DEQ, where the average salary for an Engineer I is $61,417. Currently, engineers have a 14% vacancy rate – the highest of any classifications at DEQ – highlighting the need to address salary constraints so the agency can fulfill its mission.

North Carolina Department of Environmental Quality

919.707.8661

2.) Several positions categorized by the DAVE Act report as "intentionally vacant" would be more accurately described as placeholder positions.

DEQ uses placeholder positions to support work funded by the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA), allowing the agency to manage temporary increases in workload tied to these time-limited funds. These placeholder positions provide DEQ with the flexibility to deploy staff where and when they are most needed for ARPA and other critical infrastructure project needs. This allows important projects and compliance work to keep moving while still being mindful of long-term costs and avoiding future budget problems.

All 18 positions that are flagged in the report under "Long-Term Vacancies are Kept Purposefully Vacant by State Agencies" are placeholder positions while we enter a critical year of ARPA and other projects. They do not accrue lapsed salary. DEQ will be using all 18 positions in 2026 to meet ARPA deadlines. Additionally, these are not fully appropriated state positions utilizing state monies. Regardless, these positions are anticipated to sunset with the closure of the federal ARPA program.

3.) Several other vacant positions were mischaracterized in the DAVE Act Report.

Because DEQ staff were not informed in advance of the categorizations the Auditor would use in this report, our ability to ensure that our responses were interpreted as intended was limited. Accordingly, we offer the following clarifications to address positions that we believe were mischaracterized.

First, the DAVE Act Report flagged three of our long-term vacancies (position numbers 60035303, 60035290, 60091013) as "No explanation/unclear." However, explanations provided to the Auditor's office stated that each position was in active recruitment, with continued postings and interviews taking place.

Second, many of the positions listed as "administrative lag" had indicated in data sent to the Auditor's office that the position either had been posted multiple times, needed to be reclassified down due to lack of qualified applicants, candidates were not selected due to their references or qualifications, or that candidates declined due to salary. These indicate that "low compensation/unqualified applicants" is a more suitable category. Those positions are listed here: 60035257, 60035358, 60014884, 60035244, 65036335, 60037996, 60035542, 60035359, 65035147.

Finally, "administrative lag" was also used to characterize two positions – 65035427 and 60036253 – that indicated a preferred candidate had been selected, meaning that a more appropriate category is "recently filled/about to be filled." Both of those positions are now filled.

More detailed clarifications and updates for each position can be found in the updated attached spreadsheet.

4.) The agency has prioritized hiring throughout 2025 and was working to fill vacancies prior to the passage of the DAVE Act.

DEQ agrees with the report's finding that the number of long-term vacancies filled per month did not increase as a result of the DAVE Act.

North Carolina Department of Environmental Quality
217 West Jones Street | 1601 Mail Service Center | Raleigh, North Carolina 27699-1601
919.707.8661

DEQ hires on an ongoing basis to meet normal workload and staffing needs. The timing and volume of hiring activity were part of regular operations and were not driven by the DAVE Act.

Of the 27 positions reported as filled, 9 were filled prior to August 6 and therefore were not affected by the DAVE Act, and an additional 7 were filled by August 18. Only 4 of the 83 positions were posted after August 6, the date the DAVE Act was enacted. This timeline shows that DEQ was already actively hiring before the DAVE Act was passed and provides evidence that the DAVE Act did not drive an increase in hiring.

5.) The vast majority of long-term vacancies at DEQ do not create lapsed salary.

Out of the long-term vacancies cited in the Auditor's report, 69 of the 83 vacancies are not funded through state appropriations and therefore do not generate lapsed salary. An additional 6 positions are only partially appropriated. Because these positions are funded through non-appropriated sources, the funds do not revert to the General Fund at the end of the fiscal year and do not produce savings that would be counted as unused salary. As a result, they do not affect lapsed salary calculations.

For a more accurate reference, DEQ's total lapsed salary over the first six-month period of fiscal year 2025-26 is approximately $500,000.

Uncertainty, delays, and frozen funds related to federal funding also contributed to hiring delays for several positions. Once funding was re-established, these positions were promptly posted and are now moving through the normal hiring process. These roles are 100 percent federally funded and do not generate lapsed salary.

Additionally, three positions were eliminated as part of the vacancy reduction required under SL 2025-89, Section 2G.1(a), and will not be filled.

We hope this information provides greater clarity regarding the significant fiscal challenges our agency faces with hiring and retaining talent, such as low and stagnant salaries, that are the root cause of most long-term vacancies within DEQ.

We appreciate the time and effort of the DAVE Act report and the important discussions that may evolve in collaboration with the General Assembly to ensure that DEQ can achieve its mandated mission on behalf of all North Carolina residents.

Sincerely,

D. Reid Wilson

NCDHHS DAVE Act Report Response

The North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services ("NCDHHS" or "Department") reviewed the information available in the draft DAVE Act Report ("Report") and appreciates the opportunity to provide the following feedback based on our initial review.

NCDHHS appreciates the Report's recognition of the complex interplay among vacancies-salaries-workforce. The Department also welcomes the Report's acknowledgement that total lapsed salary includes non-state funds and that competition with the private sector makes filling vacancies more challenging. However, NCDHHS has concerns about the validity of various categorizations of vacant positions and resulting conclusions in the Report. While the Department supports the Report's focus on workforce and pay challenges, several findings are based on misunderstandings of hiring practices and operational needs. As a result, the Report mislabels certain active and necessary vacancies, and overestimates how much funding can realistically be generated through vacancy abolishment.

The Report mentions abolishing vacant positions to move funding to adjust salaries of hard-to-fill positions. In 2024, NCDHHS initiated a multi-phase department-wide review of vacant positions in order to eliminate positions that were no longer needed and utilize those funds for other positions. Through this effort, 520 positions were abolished which impacted funding for 3,920 positions across the Department including 2,584 in-range salary adjustments, 1,181 vacant position budgeted salary increases, and 155 position reclassifications. The Report specifically draws attention to several difficult to fill positions in the Division of State Operated Healthcare Facilities (DSOHF). Through the previous vacancy abolishment effort, DSOHF raised minimum salaries for the following position types:

- Registered Nurses – minimum raised from $64,020 to $70,000
- Health Care Technician I – minimum raised from $33,592 to $35,360
- Health Care Technician II – minimum raised from $37,440 to $39,312
- Health Care Technician Leads – minimum raised from $40,560 to $42,588

DSOHF also used the funding from the position abolishments to address several long-standing salary compression and inequity issues across the division by developing standardized pay scales for licensed positions such as registered nurses and health care technicians.

In preparation for the next phase of DSOHF workforce initiatives, NCDHHS is evaluating the feasibility of another vacancy abolishment exercise. As the Report identifies, NCDHHS must consider many factors in an exercise of this nature including the necessary number of positions to maximize capacity (e.g. keep beds open), meet service demands, and the labor market supply. Importantly, DSOHF must factor patient safety and clinical quality when removing positions from its workforce. The Department is unlikely to be able to fully balance all of these needs without additional resources outside of those freed up through vacancy abolishments.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY / AFFIRMATIVE ACTION EMPLOYER

In addition to salary needs, NCDHHS has historically relied on lapsed salary generated from vacant positions to cover operating expenses that are not otherwise funded through recurring appropriations. NCDHHS is using the SFY2027 budget development process to be responsive to the General Assembly's request, and the Report's recommendation, to "true up" the Department's budget and plans to request funding to address the operating budget shortfall.

The Department identified several technical issues that warrant clarification.

- The report does not provide context regarding positions at NCDHHS that are classified as continuous postings. It identifies 3,074 positions (pp. 7–8) vacant for at least six months, of which 1,621 (53%) were continuous postings. The total budgeted amount for these positions was reported as $168,688,895, with continuous postings accounting for $80,231,206 (48%). The amount not used was reported as $375,002,032, with continuous postings accounting for $180,314,210 (48%).

Continuous postings allow agencies to keep job announcements open indefinitely for high-demand roles, and the positions identified are primarily at state facilities. Examples of these positions include registered nurses, licensed practical nurses, health care technicians, and clinical social workers. Candidates are hired into whichever position number is selected from the group of postings, which can result in some positions within the continuous posting showing little activity while there is significant churn in others within the group.

- The report states that 697 positions were not posted, with 465 of these categorized as "without reason" (pp. 52–54). While posting dates were not included, the Department disagrees that reasons were not provided. Examples of reasons provided include 107 positions not posted due to facility closures, 151 held open due to temporary closures or renovations, seven that were filled, and 99 requiring federal authorization to hire.

- The report also identifies an option of eliminating positions that "state agencies have no intent to fill," and identifies 505 such "purposefully vacant" positions at NCDHHS (pp. 56–57). The Department disagrees with categorizing many of these positions as having no intent to fill. Of these positions, 136 require permission from the federal government to hire and are almost entirely within Disability Determination Services. When the Social Security Administration does grant hiring authority to the Department, it is with a short turnaround time or the Department loses the authorized hires. Therefore, NCDHHS must act quickly to post, hire, and onboard staff, necessitating that these positions are maintained and not eliminated. An additional 211 positions within DSOHF are being held vacant temporarily due to facility renovations or because a facility unit is temporarily closed due to low staffing levels. The Department intends to fill these positions either when renovations are complete or as staffing levels allow closed units to be reopened.

- The report states that 601 positions at NCDHHS (pp. 59–60) are long-term vacancies that were not explained. The Department disagrees with this characterization. For 455 of the 601 vacancies, NCDHHS noted that the positions are continuous postings and are in active recruitment.

Thank you, again, for the opportunity to provide feedback. NCDHHS looks forward to working with all interested parties to optimize salaries, minimize vacancies, and streamline hiring across the Department.

NCDIT | NORTH CAROLINA DEPARTMENT OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

Secretary and State Chief Information Officer

Memorandum

To: North Carolina Office of the State Auditor

From: Teena Piccione, Secretary and State Chief Information Officer

Subject: Department of Information Technology – DAVE Act Report – Response

Date: January 6, 2026

Thank you so much for allowing NCDIT to respond.

NCDIT has addressed over 55% of the audited vacancies successfully filling 41 of the 87 positions with an additional 7 candidates finalized and awaiting upcoming start dates. For the remaining 39 vacancies, the agency is conducting a rigorous strategic review. This delay is a deliberate effort to convert long-term vacancies into early-career pathway roles, ensuring we are building a sustainable succession pipeline that is both fiscally responsible and aligned with our long-term talent needs for a future-ready workforce.

In response to "administrative lag" in the NCDIT hiring process, we wish to clarify that the duration of recent recruitment cycles is not the result of procedural inefficiency, but rather a deliberate strategic initiative to modernize the agency's work force structure. The time elapsed during these hiring cycles reflects a conscious management decision to move away from "replacement-in-kind" hiring. Instead, NCDIT has engaged in a rigorous role-by-role evaluation to support the following objectives. What may appear to be a temporal lag is, in fact, a value engineered recruitment process by our stellar HR team:

- Early Career Pathway conversion: Rather than backfilling senior vacancies at peak market rates, NCDIT is strategically converting roles into entry-level and mid-level pathway positions. This requires significant re-classification of work upfront but ensures a sustainable talent pipeline for the state.
- Fiscal Responsibility: By re-evaluating the necessity and grade of each position, we are ensuring that the personnel high-growth areas (like AI and Cloud) are balanced by cost-effective entry-level structures. This "pause-and-analyze" approach prevents the long-term inflation of the agency's recurring salary requirements.

In response to "salary differences," NCDIT salary differences reflect the distinct demands of Information Technology roles. NCDIT operates in a unique labor micro-climate. While agencies like NC Wildlife Resources Commission or Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) often recruit for specialized biological or regulatory roles, NCDIT competes directly for talent against global tech giants like Google, Apple, and Cisco who offer aggressive compensation packages. Roles in AI, Cloud Architecture, and Cybersecurity carry a significant premium to hire specialized technical expertise, resulting in higher compensation levels. The Research Triangle Park (RTP) talent market is one of the most competitive in the U.S.

NCDIT is shifting toward early career pathways (internships, apprenticeships, and junior level tracks) as a strategic move to address both the talent gap and budget constraints. As our agency continues to formalize these pathways, you will likely see lowering in the ranges of salaries at the agency. Early career pathways allow us to be fiscally responsible with our resources and ensures long-term succession planning as a talent engine for the state. Building the internal pipeline with these programs allows us to cultivate loyalty and institutional knowledge so that NCDIT remains both a competitive employer in the RTP region and a responsible steward of North Carolina's financial resources.

NCDIT remains committed to filling these roles with the right talent under a framework utilizing our early career pathways to build a sustainable succession pipeline that is both fiscally responsible and aligned with our long-term talent needs for a future-ready workforce.

Good morning,
Thank you for sharing the draft report on State Agency Long-Term Vacancies and associated lapsed salaries. We confirm receipt of the draft report and accompanying data and appreciate the opportunity to review and provide a response for potential inclusion in the final report. For your consideration, we offer the following response:
The Department of Justice is currently conducting an organizational review to assess whether vacant positions remain necessary or could be repurposed to help address the approximately $3 million budget deficit resulting from prior reductions and cuts to the office. It is important to note that positions funded through receipts, or partial or full federal funding do not generate lapsed salary in the same manner as general fund positions. The Department will continue working to streamline positions and align staffing resources to ensure the most efficient and responsible use of taxpayer dollars.
Please let us know if you have any questions or require additional information during this process.

Response from the Department of Military & Veterans Affairs

NORTH CAROLINA DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY AND VETERANS AFFAIRS

JOSH STEIN
GOVERNOR

JOCELYN MITNAUL MALLETTE
SECRETARY

January 6, 2026

Good afternoon,

The North Carolina Department of Military and Veterans Affairs (NCDMVA) appreciates the opportunity to respond to the vacancy challenges facing our agency. As previously noted, we have experienced challenges filling certain positions because the level of compensation we can offer is not competitive for roles that require technical certifications or specific management preferences, particularly when competing with private sector salaries and compensation offered across state government.

Despite this, NCDMVA has now been able to fill two of the three positions noted (none of the three are appropriated positions within the state budget) in the Draft January 2026 DAVE Act Report with skilled and specialized team members. We remain excited about the strong team being built and advancing the Department's mission.

- Engineer III (Capital Projects Coordinator) was filled in August 2025, and the position has quickly become vital to ensuring deadlines are met, projects that serve veterans move forward, and that the agency remains a good steward of taxpayer dollars.
- Program Director I (State Veterans Home Administrative Director) was filled in October 2025, and the role is integral to the efficient and streamlined management of our five State Veteran Homes. We may have mistakenly excluded an explanation for this vacancy but can attribute it to administrative lag.
- Budget Analyst II (Budget Analyst) remains vacant at this time however it is necessary for our business operations while we look to reclassify it appropriately. It should be noted that this is a receipts-funded position, and as with the other two positions noted, is not part of state appropriations.

Response from the Department of Natural & Cultural Resources

Josh Stein, Governor
Pamela B. Cashwell, Secretary

January 6, 2026

The Honorable Dave Boliek
State Auditor of North Carolina
Office of the State Auditor

Auditor Boliek,

The Department of Natural and Cultural Resources ("DNCR") received the December 22, 2025, communication from your office providing a draft report regarding long-term vacant positions and lapsed salary ("report") from the Division of Accountability, Value, and Efficiency ("DAVE"). We appreciate the work by your team to review and analyze a voluminous amount of data and non-standardized textual responses to your request for information from state agencies.

Thank you for recognizing that DNCR has eliminated long-term vacancies at the fastest rate in state government by filling 64 (or 56%) of our "long-term vacancies"[1] between August 5 and October 1, 2025. In 2025, DNCR leadership prioritized process improvements to our human resources systems and filling vacant positions. I am pleased to share, as a result of our team's hard work, an additional 31 long-term vacant positions have been filled since DNCR's September 30, 2025, submission to DAVE, bringing the total up to 95 (or 82%) of the identified positions filled. Attachment A provides updated data on DNCR's positions included in the report.

We appreciate the opportunity to review the draft report. DNCR shares your office's commitment to transparency and accuracy. To assist you in providing accurate and helpful information to the public and the legislature, we offer the below clarifying and corrective information for your consideration.

I. Federally Funded and Receipt-Supported Positions

Like many agencies, DNCR has federally funded and receipt[2] supported positions. As acknowledged in the report, "[o]ften, federal funding is tied to the position being filled, so a federally funded vacancy does not generate lapsed salary for the State agency." Our federally funded positions are reimbursable, and funds are not received unless and until the position is filled. Similarly, our receipt-supported positions do not generate lapsed salary for the General Fund. However, the report includes federally funded and receipt funded positions in its

[1] The report defines long-term vacancies as "as positions within a State agency that have remained vacant for six months or more as of August 6, 2025."
[2] The report defines receipts according to N.C.G.S. § 143C-1-1(d)(10), as including "[f]ees, licenses, federal funds, grants, fines, penalties, tuition, and other similar collections or credits generated by State agencies in the course of performing their governmental functions that are applied to the cost of a program administered by the State agency..."

4601 MAIL SERVICE CENTER, RALEIGH, NC 27699 • dncr.nc.gov

calculations of lapsed salary generated. For DNCR, our lapsed salary is overstated by $5,417,837. This accounts for 51.6% of DNCR's "generated lapsed salary" in the report. Of the overstated "generated lapsed salary", nearly half is from just four federally funded positions. The report also assumes that no salary adjustment was made to any position after it became vacant. The lack of distinction between funding sources and the assumption of unchanged position budgets significantly overstates the amount of lapsed salary generated by vacant positions.

II. Low Compensation Positions

As acknowledged in the report, low compensation is a barrier to hiring and drives many long-term vacancies for state agencies. The existence of a position does not always guarantee the availability of funding to support it at the level of compensation needed to attract qualified candidates. Many DNCR positions are underbudgeted for hiring well-qualified candidates within the state's current job classification system. DNCR has long been noted by the Office of State Human Resources and the Office of State Budget and Management as having some of the lowest employee salaries when compared to other state agencies. With sites in every region, DNCR vacancies are also impacted by differences in local costs of living across the state. This misalignment between budgeted salary and competitive compensation drives prolonged vacancies, especially in specialized, skilled, or leadership roles. For example, maintenance positions are among the lowest paid and most difficult to recruit in DNCR. From our experience, DNCR agrees with the report's finding that "positions that pay substantially less than comparable roles in other states or the private sector remain a concern."

Unfortunately, the report understates the impact of low compensation in long-term vacancies at DNCR. The report classified some positions as "Administrative Lag" and as "No Response" when, in fact, low compensation was a key contributing factor." Many more long-term vacancies at DNCR are related to low compensation. Attachment B lists additional long-term vacancies tied to low compensation but not captured in the report's analysis.

However, even with the inclusion of these positions in the Low Compensation category, this does not capture all vacancies where low compensation was a driving factor, but rather only the positions where a declining candidate proactively volunteered low compensation as the reason for them declining the position. If a candidate declined but did not state a reason, it is possible low compensation was an issue. The report acknowledges that "citing low compensation or unqualified applicants as reasons for persistent long-term vacancies, highlights positions that likely require salary adjustments." Therefore, positions that have been posted multiple times without receiving qualified applicants should also be considered as likely driven by low compensation yet are not categorized as such in the report's analysis of this issue.

III. Administrative Lag

The report categorizes administrative lag as (1) "reclassification" where a position was "being repurposed or reallocated, changing either the position's salary or responsibilities", (2) "other administration" where an agency "mention[s] the problem broadly, in no specific terms, or explicitly cite[s] multiple reasons for the vacancy length", (3) "transferred position... [c]aused because a position is changing facilities or departments," and (4) "slow HR process." Nine DNCR positions[3] were incorrectly classified in the report as "Administrative Lag "when they should have been classified as Low Compensation" or "Unqualified Applicants."

The timing and implementation of newly appropriated positions also contributes to long-term vacancies. Positions are often established retroactively by the General Assembly (for example, a position established in a budget signed into law in December of a fiscal year may be made "effective" July 1 of that same year). Combined with the time required to certify the state budget and complete the administrative steps to formally establish the positions, new positions regularly appear to be vacant for over six months before they are truly even available for recruitment. This impacted our number of long-term vacancies.

Additionally, 14 of the 22 positions categorized in the report as "administrative lag" are positions that are intentionally vacant because of capital project timelines. When new positions are created to support the operations of state facilities under construction, recruitment may be intentionally delayed to align with the facility's construction schedule. It would be fiscally irresponsible to proceed with hiring staff before the necessary facilities are nearing operational status.

IV. Unexplained Vacancies

On the chart showing "unexplained long-term vacancies," seven long-term DNCR vacancies were listed as "unexplained." The report defines "unexplained long-term vacancies" as vacancies where the "agencies did not explain the length of the continued vacancy itself." Yet, brief explanations for each of these vacancies were provided in DNCR's original submission along with other information including how many times a position was posted. We have restated or clarified our submitted explanations in Attachment C and provided updates to align with the clarified request from DAVE on each of these positions. DNCR is pleased to report that three of the seven positions have been filled.

Summary

In January 2025, I identified filling vacant positions and improving the recruitment and hiring processes as top priorities for the agency in this new administration. Since that time, DNCR has implemented and begun adhering to clear guidance on the timing of each step in the recruitment and hiring process. These efforts have resulted in the agency's vacancy rate being reduced by more than one-third, including filling 82 % of the long-term vacancies identified in the report, with continued progress toward bringing all recruitment efforts within a 65-day target window. We also focused on re-classifying and increasing the salaries for some hard to fill positions such as maintenance/construction technicians. While they are largely still underpaid, these actions did enable us to fill some of the long-term vacancies in this classification.

DNCR has proven that these process improvements can make meaningful change, as acknowledged by DAVE in the draft report. However, the General Assembly must provide funding that is aligned with the state pay scales for DNCR to fully address the problem of long-term vacant positions and their underlying causes, including low compensation relative to the market, turnover, pay compression, and local cost of living variances.

We appreciate the work of the Office of the State Auditor and share the priorities of transparency and accountability. Thank you for this opportunity to respond; it allows for a fuller, more accurate accounting of DNCR's staffing and funding realities. I respectfully request that you include this information in the final report and updated public dashboard. I welcome the opportunity to discuss any of these matters in further detail.

Sincerely,

Pamela B. Cashwell

Secretary

Attachment B: Low Compensation Positions

60033054 (Maintenance/Construction Technician III): "Pending reclassification since 7/2/2025 [to raise the classification and salary]; some past postings have produced no viable candidates, and previous selected candidates have declined offers due to other job opportunities [with potentially higher salaries] or failed a background clearance"

- The report classifies this position as "Administrative Lag", but the explanation discusses a lack of viable candidates and candidates declining offers for other opportunities and therefore should be classified as "Unqualified Applicants" or "Low Compensation."

60032878 (Park Ranger I): "Candidate selected and offer approved 9/26/2025; previous selected candidates have declined for various reasons [including low salary]"

- While the report correctly classified this position "About to Be Filled," the explanation discusses previous candidates declining for various reasons and therefore could have been classified as "Low Compensation." This position was filled on January 5, 2026.

60032906 (Maintenance/Construction Technician II): "Candidate selected and offer approved 9/26/2025; previous selected candidates have declined for various reasons including [low] salary"

60083719 (Maintenance/Construction Technician I): "Pending reclassification since 9/12/2025 [to raise the classification and salary]; postings have produced a small and often unqualified applicant pool, with many candidates declining interviews, withdrawing, or failing to respond; salary constraints, geographic limitations, and housing availability have also posed consistent challenges"

- The report classifies this position as "Administrative Lag" because the explanation discusses reclassification. The explanation also discusses unqualified applicants, salary constraints, and housing availability. DNCR's submission stated this position had been posted seven times with no offers being extended and therefore should be classified as "Unqualified Applicants, "Low Compensation", or "Relocation Difficulties."

65031778 (Maintenance/Construction Technician III): "Pending reclassification since 5/14/2025 [to raise the classification and salary]; several past postings have produced few or no qualified applicants; previous selected candidates have declined offers for a variety of reasons including competing offers [at higher salaries]"

- The report classifies this position as "Administrative Lag" because the explanation discusses reclassification. The explanation also discusses unqualified applicants and candidates declining offers for a variety of reasons including competing offers and therefore should be classified as "Unqualified Applicants" or "Low Compensation."

- The report classifies this position as "Administrative Lag" because the explanation discusses reclassification. The explanation also discusses past candidates withdrawing or being unsuitable for the position and therefore should be classified as "Low Compensation" or "Unqualified Applicants." A posting is pending.

65037826 (Administrative Specialist II): "Applications from first posting referred to hiring manager 8/6/2025; first selected candidate declined due to salary; position established as operating reserve in 2023 State Budget; recruitment delayed to best align with corresponding capital project schedule"

- The report classifies this position as "Administrative Lag" because the explanation discusses delay due to a capital project schedule. The explanation also discusses a candidate who declined an offer due to salary and therefore should be classified as "Low Compensation."

65037893 (Maintenance/Construction Technician II): "Applications from second posting referred to hiring manager 8/6/2025; previous selected candidates have declined offers due to low salary; challenges identifying candidates with plumbing experience needed for this role; position established as operating reserve in 2023 State Budget; recruitment delayed to best align with corresponding capital project schedule"

- The report classifies this position as "Administrative Lag" because the explanation discusses delay due to a capital project schedule. The explanation also discusses candidates declining offers due to low salary and challenges finding qualified candidates and therefore should be classified as "Low Compensation" or "Unqualified Applicants." This position will be posted again in early 2026, after the holidays.

65037898 (Maintenance/Construction Technician III): "Screening applications from third posting; previous postings yielded no qualified candidates [due to low salary]; position established as operating reserve in 2023 State Budget; recruitment delayed to best align with corresponding capital project schedule"

- The report classifies this position as "Administrative Lag" because the explanation discusses delay due to a capital project schedule. The explanation also discusses candidates declining offers due to salary and therefore should be classified as "Low Compensation."

Attachment C: Unexplained Vacancies

65026887 (Arts Development Consultant): "Screening applications from first posting; long-term vacant federally funded position that was unfilled due to funding availability and was recently repurposed [as Program Director I-ACC Deputy Director] to staff a new federally funded program"

- Update: Position was filled on 1/5/2026.

60033038 (Maintenance/Construction Technician II): "Applications from third posting referred to hiring manager 9/18/2025; selected candidates from previous postings have declined [for a variety of reasons including low salary]"

State Auditor Dave Boliek

Dear State Auditor Boliek,

On behalf of the State Board of Education and the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction (NCDPI), I appreciate the opportunity to provide a response to the draft report on State Agency Long-Term Vacancies and Their Lapsed Salaries.

The North Carolina Constitution vests the State Board of Education with the general supervision and administration of the public school system, ensuring every child's right to the privilege of education. The Board establishes policy and provides oversight, while the State Superintendent of Public Instruction – serving as the Board's chief administrative officer – leads NCDPI in implementing Board policies, programs, and services on a daily basis. NCDPI and the State Board of Education efficiently manage more than $14 billion in state and federal public monies, most of which is distributed to public schools across North Carolina to support the education of the state's 1.5 million public school students across 115 school districts and more than 200 charter and laboratory schools, encompassing more than 2,700 schools in total.

Given the enormous scope of the State Board of Education's and NCDPI's collective work, I would like to provide additional context and updated information regarding the 39 positions identified as long-term vacancies at NCDPI. I believe this context will help provide nuance for these positions, their responsibilities, and funding sources, as well as a better understanding of how NCDPI is operating within the current fiscal constraints.

- NCDPI has filled nine of the long-term vacant positions identified in the report as of January 2026 and is interviewing candidates for an additional position. As reported by NCDPI, since August 2025, eight of the 39 positions identified in the report as long-term vacancies have been filled. Since the data was submitted to the Office of the State Auditor (OSA), NCDPI has filled an additional position (#60009777) effective January 5, 2026. In addition, NCDPI is conducting interviews with candidates for another identified position (#60094598). Note that this position was categorized in the report as "no response" even though the data NCDPI submitted to OSA indicated that candidates for that position had been screened and referred to the hiring manager for review.

- NCDPI was directed in S.L. 2025-89 to eliminate vacant positions to reduce General Fund appropriations by $1.8 million, which will undercut NCDPI's ability to utilize lapsed salary funds for operations and personnel. NCDPI is eliminating or has paused hiring for 12 of the positions identified in the report (note that position #65028929 is categorized as "administrative lag," but NCDPI is planning to eliminate that position). Among the 12 positions, seven positions are being eliminated pursuant to S.L. 2025-89, which directed NCDPI to "eliminate positions that remain vacant at the end of the 2024-2025 fiscal year" to achieve a reduction in General Fund appropriations of $1,848,573. In addition, NCDPI has paused hiring for five positions, which were proposed to be eliminated in the House or Senate budget bills, pursuant to G.S. 143C-5-4(b)(4), which prohibits filling vacant positions that were proposed to be eliminated in legislative budget bills before a new budget has been enacted.

- Of the 39 positions (which total 38.25 FTEs) identified in the report as long-term vacant positions at NCDPI, only 2.4 FTEs of state-appropriated positions are currently vacant. The report does not differentiate positions by source of funding. Only 12.6 FTEs (33% of the 38.25 FTEs identified in the report) are state-appropriated positions. Eighteen FTEs identified in the report are federally-funded positions and 7.7 FTEs are receipt-supported positions.

- NCDPI strategically uses lapsed salary funding to manage unfunded but essential costs in order to meet operational needs and maintain critical functions. NCDPI uses lapsed salary funds to hire temporary employees to cover the duties of critical vacant positions. For instance, to ensure continuity of services for legacy IT systems critical for school operations, NCDPI is using lapsed salary funds to hire two retirees as temporary employees for one of the IT positions that has been vacant for more than three years. In addition, NCDPI uses lapsed salary funds to cover operational costs for which there are no or insufficient appropriations, such as increases in subscriptions for Department of Information Technology (DIT) services and legal judgments and settlements.

- The General Assembly has directed NCDPI to use lapsed salary funding or to repurpose vacant positions for items NCDPI has requested for appropriations. For example, S.L. 2025-80 directed NCDPI to use $82,100 of lapsed salary funding to cover operational costs for the Charter School Review Board over the 2025-2027 biennium. In 2023, NCDPI was directed in S.L. 2023-134 to reclassify three existing positions to serve as a teaching compensation and advanced teaching roles consultant, a Read to Achieve Charter School Coordinator, and a Director of American Indian Education Services.

While the State Board and NCDPI operate with remarkable efficiency and effectively manage within current fiscal constraints, we do want to share the following recommendations for consideration regarding long-term vacancies and lapsed salary funding.

- State salaries for several critical positions, especially IT positions at NCDPI, are not competitive as noted in the report, and additional funding is needed to ensure that agencies can hire qualified staff. The persistent IT vacancies at NCDPI reflect North Carolina's broader challenge in competing for technical talent. State salary ranges for IT positions lag behind equivalent positions in the private sector.

Maurice "Mo" Green, Superintendent | Mo.Green@dpi.nc.gov
6301 Mail Service Center, Raleigh, North Carolina 27699 | (984) 236-2200

- The flexibility provided by lapsed salary funding is crucial for managing unbudgeted needs. In order to maintain operational effectiveness and critical services, NCDPI will need sufficient appropriations to cover services that are currently being covered by lapsed salary funding should lapsed salary funding no longer be available. NCDPI currently spends 70% of lapsed salary funds from state appropriations ($3.4 million) on DIT subscription costs, IT services, and equipment and software. NCDPI has requested dedicated funding for the 2025-2027 biennium from the General Assembly for these costs.

- While NCDPI effectively manages within current fiscal constraints, NCDPI could immediately utilize additional positions for several critical purposes. NCDPI has consistently requested funding from the General Assembly for additional positions, including cybersecurity specialists to protect student data, a rulemaking coordinator, a teacher misconduct investigator, and building security personnel.

In summary, the State Board of Education and NCDPI embody the constitutional duty to supervise and administer North Carolina's system of free public schools with fiscal integrity, operational efficiency, and an unwavering focus on student success. NCDPI's management of vacant positions reflects careful stewardship of resources while maintaining essential services. We remain committed to transparency and efficiency in serving North Carolina's 1.5 million public school students, and we welcome a dialogue about sustainable funding solutions that would reduce our reliance on lapsed salary funding as a budgeting tool.

Sincerely,

Maurice "Mo" Green

DATE: January 6, 2026

SUBJECT: DPS DAVE Act Draft Report Response

Internal Audit serves as the liaison between our agency and external stakeholders. As requested, you will find below DPS's response to the OSA's DAVE Act Draft Report. We have addressed the following finding related to DPS:

The Department of Public Safety Attributes 25% of its Long-Term Vacancies to Low Compensation

Thank you for the opportunity to provide our response in conjunction with other state agencies. Should you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact me.

The Department of Public Safety Attributes 25% of its Long-Term Vacancies to Low Compensation

The Department of Public Safety (DPS) acknowledges that long-term vacancies, especially for Juvenile Justice and Public Safety positions, are due to low compensation. Therefore, DPS respectfully requests increased funding for these positions and authorization to offer competitive pay rates, ensuring compliance with both Federal and State requirements. Without adequate funding, DPS cannot provide competitive salaries for critical roles responsible for the direct care of juvenile justice youth.

Juvenile Justice positions are crucial roles for ensuring that DPS complies with the Prison Rape Elimination Act of 2003 (PREA). This Act includes federal requirements, such as staffing plans to prevent abuse and ensure safety. Specifically, it mandates at least one staff member for every eight youth during waking hours and one staff member for every sixteen youth during sleeping hours. Eliminating positions like Youth Counselor Technicians, Youth Services Behavioral Specialists, Youth Counselors, and Juvenile Court Counselors would make it impossible for DPS to maintain these federally mandated ratios.

The report categorized Youth Counselors and Juvenile Court Counselors together, and there are distinct differences between Youth Counselors and Juvenile Court Counselors, which cannot be categorized together.

Moreover, reducing juvenile justice positions could compromise the safety of children within our facilities as well as public safety overall in North Carolina. Therefore, abolishing positions within DPS is not a feasible solution. It is important to recognize investing in DPS supports North Carolina public safety, safeguards vulnerable youth, enables DPS to effectively respond to disasters, and helps maintain federal compliance and grant funding.

North Carolian Office of the State Auditor

Good afternoon Jacob,

Thank you for the opportunity to provide a brief response and additional context to the draft report of State Agency Long-Term Vacancies and their Lapsed Salaries. In reviewing the data in the draft report, the Secretary of State's office finds inaccuracies in the lapse salary money generated from vacant state agency positions. As outlined in the agency's initial response the following positions were created by the Remote Electronic Notary Act, but the General Assembly never appropriated recurring or non-recurring funds to begin the program, and the program has yet to generate receipts since is has not commenced, leaving these positions unfunded.

From OSA DAVE Dashboard:

| Agency Name | Position Number | Job | Date Vacant | Vacancy Explanation | Salary | Total Lapsed Salary Generated |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Dept. of the Secretary of State | 65040855 | Financial Investigator I | 12/1/2024 | Funding Concerns | $80,385 | $54,837.99 |
| Dept. of the Secretary of State | 65040856 | Financial Investigator I | 12/1/2024 | Funding Concerns | $80,385 | $54,837.99 |
| Dept. of the Secretary of State | 65040970 | Attorney II | 12/1/2024 | Funding Concerns | $83,632 | $57,053.06 |
| Dept. of the Secretary of State | 65041050 | Applications Systems Specialist I | 12/1/2024 | Funding Concerns | $84,353 | $57,544.92 |

By statute, these positions will be receipt supported when the program becomes operational but are currently unfunded. In the manner the data is presented it suggests the agency has access to General Fund appropriations as a result of these lapsed salaries, and this is not the case.

In addition, with other receipt supported positions identified in this report, the receipts are not generated on a regular basis or are statutorily required to be used for a specified limited purpose. The draft report suggests the agency would have access to use cash that does not exist either because no receipts have been generated, or that cannot be used outside the boundaries of the program defined by statute.

Thank you for the opportunity to provide a response and additional context to the report.

Dear State Auditor Boliek,

NCDOT executive management has reviewed the DAVE Act Audit Report provided by the Office of the State Auditor. As the report stated, NCDOT faces many of the same issues that other state agencies face when filling positions. Competitive wages and benefits are key to recruiting the best workforce for the State of North Carolina with a diminishing applicant pool. Unlike other state agencies, NCDOT directly competes with the private sector for applicants in the construction and engineering fields where there are smaller numbers of qualified individuals than ever before. NCDOT utilizes aggressive turnaround time metrics for our HR staff and hiring managers. This information is tracked in various systems and dashboards that allow us to continuously improve NCDOT HR's services to the department.

After the pandemic, NCDOT was faced with the highest vacancy rate in the history of the Department, and we began to ramp up our recruitment and retention efforts. DOT began to heavily recruit for all vacant positions, created new opportunities for exposure to the Department (high school and community college internships, etc.) as well as the 4-year college and university internships, apprenticeship programs, new trainee programs at DMV, and a heavy recruitment presence through non-traditional methods, such as social media and various job boards and professional societies. We began this initiative in 2023 and continued to increase our efforts over the next several years. In 2023, we processed approximately 3,111 postings, in 2024, we increased the number of postings to approximately 3,724 and in 2025, we have posted approximately 4,091 positions. This aggressive approach has helped DOT achieve a vacancy rate of 15%, bringing it down significantly from 23% in 2022.

The vast majority of NCDOT's lapsed salaries are generated from vacant field funded positions that charge to projects. These field positions have a funding source designation of Highway Funds in FIORI, but they are not administrative appropriations. As such, any unexpended lapsed salaries from field funded positions remain with the project(s) as available funding. It should also be noted that any administrative lapsed salary appropriations remaining at fiscal year-end revert to the credit balance, which have been directed towards Hurricane Helene recovery per North Carolina Session Law 2025-26.

Good afternoon Mr. O'Steen,

I hope that you are well and that your new year is off to a great start!

I am writing to seek some clarification regarding Footnote 82 concerning the Industrial Commission, which states "[r]equested information separately but included within Department of Insurance in report." It was the Commission's goal and intent to submit all information as requested, so we are concerned that the footnote could be interpreted as indicating we did not comply with the instructions of the Auditor's Office. We hope this is not the intent of the language, but if so, then we want to assure the Auditor's Office that any error on our part was due to a misunderstanding and not intentional.

Just to provide some additional background information, the Industrial Commission is a Type II Agency, falling under the umbrella of DOI. Consistent with our understanding of the instructions provided in the August 15, 2025, email to State agencies below, DOI took responsibility for submitting information for the Industrial Commission since the Industrial Commission is a Type II Agency.

I am hoping that you might be able to provide us with some guidance on how best to address the footnote. Again, the Industrial Commission would hate for a reader to get the impression that we were noncompliant with a request.

Please know how much we appreciate the work that your office has undertaken on this important directive. I am happy to discuss if that is easier for you. Please just let me know.

Thank you,

Amber

Thank you for the opportunity to provide comment. OAH has one general recommendation and an update on the specific positions in the spreadsheet.

As to the former, we recommend the Report provide that any action taken by the General Assembly regarding the elimination of long-term vacant positions include a clear caveat for positions tied to pending personnel litigation. Under North Carolina General Statute § 126-87, reinstatement is a primary remedy when an employee is found to have been improperly separated, along with back pay and restoration of benefits. Maintaining these positions during litigation is essential to uphold statutory requirements and avoid unintended consequences of eliminating a position and subsequently being ordered by the court to reinstate the employee to a position that no longer exists. While most personnel cases resolve within a year, some, can extend significantly longer. Preserving vacant positions where there is pending litigation ensures the agency's ability to comply with legal orders and mitigates operational and financial risks.

As to the latter comment. We are attaching a revised spreadsheet with a new column (highlighted) containing the most recent information as it relates to the specific position.

Thanks again for accepting comments and if you have any questions, please let me know. The Report looks very good.

RE: OSHR Response to DAVE Act Report

Thank you for the opportunity to respond to the recent audit conducted under the DAVE Act. We appreciate the thoroughness of your review and welcome the opportunity to provide context and clarification on several key findings. The audit underscores the complexity of managing human resources across a large and diverse state government and highlights areas where modernization and strategic investment are essential.

OSHR's Vacancy Rate
At the time the N.C. Office of State Human Resources (OSHR) submitted information for the DAVE Act on September 25, 2025, the agency had only two long-term vacant positions. [1] Consequently, OSHR's vacancies are not significantly featured in the DAVE Act Report.

Both positions became vacant within 45 days of the gubernatorial transition—one approximately a month prior, the other a month after. OSHR's new leadership intentionally maintained these vacancies while evaluating how best to align operational with the administration's goal of modernizing and transforming state HR practices. In general, OSHR does not experience significant challenges filling positions and rarely needs to re-post vacancies; generally, applicant pools are sufficient to meet staffing requirements.

Systemic Challenges and Modernization Needs
The audit rightly identifies persistent challenges in analyzing vacancy data across state agencies. These challenges stem from the fragmentation of our data systems, which currently span three distinct platforms: a legacy payroll system nearing end-of-support, a budget platform, and a newly implemented hiring platform launched in October 2025. This lack of integration

[1] OSA's initial list of long-term vacant positions included three positions, one of which was filled on September 2, 2025, between the date the data was pulled (August 6) and the DAVE Act submission deadline (October 25).

complicates efforts to produce timely and accurate vacancy analytics and underscores the urgent need for a unified, modernized HR infrastructure.

Progress and Ongoing Initiatives
In the last year, OSHR made strides to address longstanding issues. The absence of a full state budget since July 2025 and the reliance on continuing resolutions have presented obstacles to hiring and resource allocation. Despite these constraints, Session Law (S.L.) 2025-34 laid the groundwork for meaningful HR modernization. Initiatives such as temp-to-perm hiring, pooled recruitment strategies, improved digital resume submissions, and the implementation of Workday are expected to yield measurable improvements in 2026. Notably, Section 5 of S.L. 2025-34 made permanent, temporary flexibility provided in Section 39.3 of S.L. 2023-134 that allowed agencies full delegated authority to "Classify or reclassify positions according to the State Human Resources Commission (SHRC) classification system, provided employees meet the minimum requirements for the classification" and to "Establish employee salaries within SHRC-determined salary ranges for respective position classifications." These efforts will enhance data consistency across agencies and improve the efficiency of hiring processes.

Compensation and Recruitment Challenges
We acknowledge and agree with your finding that low compensation is a challenge for many roles across state government. OSHR has the skills and data to assist agencies in undertaking compensation evaluations but may need additional resources to provide comprehensive services statewide. It is important to clarify that several classifications, such as Correction Officers and State Highway Patrol Troopers, operate under legislatively established pay plans, which are not based on market data.

Additional data sources—applicant feedback, recruiting metrics, employee exit interviews, and the Mercer compensation review—may provide further insight into compensation and recruitment challenges. It is also worth noting that some agencies may have faced internal equity concerns or lacked the financial capacity to implement recommended salary adjustments, even when advised to do so.

Opportunities for Enhanced Oversight and Support
With increased resources, OSHR is well-positioned to expand its support for agency hiring and vacancy management. Our teams focused on program review and recruitment teams could broaden their scope to include monitoring vacancy trends, time-to-fill metrics, and other key indicators and providing direct support to agencies related to these metrics. Additionally, OSHR is available to assist agencies with comprehensive evaluation of positions using salary survey data, including comparisons with surrounding states. Our classification and compensation unit is equipped to reassess pay grades and provide market rate analyses, though implementation remains contingent on available funding.

Technical Clarifications
We would like to clarify one technical aspects of the audit report; references to "OSHR data" would be more accurately described as "data from the Integrated HR/Payroll System (BEACON)," which is maintained by the N.C. Office of the State Controller (OSC). OSHR did not provide or quality-check the data shared with the Office of the State Auditor.

We appreciate the opportunity to provide this response and look forward to continued collaboration to strengthen our state's human resources infrastructure. Please do not hesitate to reach out for further clarification or discussion.

Response from the Office of the Governor

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA
OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

JOSH STEIN
GOVERNOR

January 6, 2025

The Honorable David Boliek, State Auditor
North Carolina Office of the State Auditor
20601 Mail Service Center
Raleigh, NC 27699-0600

Dear Auditor Boliek,

We are writing in response to the draft DAVE Act Report provided to the Governor's Office on December 22, 2025. Strengthening our state workforce is a key priority of the Stein Administration, and we are committed to continuous improvement in the recruitment and retention of public servants across our state. The report's mandate to analyze the scale of long-term vacancies, their impact on agency performance, and their budgetary implications through lapsed salary is an important one. We welcome opportunities to engage in a constructive and meaningful dialogue regarding appropriations and budgetary processes that improve the way state government serves North Carolinians. However, the analysis shared in the draft report and public dashboard released on December 30, 2025, is inaccurate in its accounting of long-term vacancies and lapsed salary, undermining the credibility of its conclusions.

Notably, the publicly released finding that 8,846 long-term vacancies have generated a cumulative $1.04 billion in lapsed salary overcounts the impact of long-term vacancies by hundreds of millions of dollars. What is perplexing is that the report acknowledges a significant degree of variation and nuance among different categories of positions, yet these topline conclusions and data figures then ignore those same distinctions. For example:

- Approximately $246 million in reported lapsed salary comes from approximately 854 unfunded placeholder positions that have never generated lapsed salary.
- Approximately $47 million in reported lapsed salary comes from approximately 279 federally and receipt-funded positions that do not generate lapsed salary.

- Approximately $232 million in reported lapsed salary comes from receipts that must be earned and used for the purposes they were generated for, and $67 million in transportation funding reverts to the Highway Fund and specific transportation projects.
- The report makes other assumptions about potential role eliminations where doing so would be detrimental. For example, DHHS has a significant number of vacancies on hold that will be needed as health care facilities are renovated and reopened. In many cases, agencies are relying on temporary staff to fill positions. Eliminating these positions without a corresponding increase in funding would put operations at risk.

Had the OSA afforded state agencies a more substantial opportunity to engage on these findings, the errors cited above might have been corrected prior to inaccurate information being released to the public. Furthermore, more proactive engagement would have allowed agencies to work with OSA to improve the report's recommendations into more pragmatic opportunities.

We recognize the value of meaningful, long-term reforms to promote a more sustainable state workforce and a fiscal environment that meets the needs of North Carolinians, and we welcome a serious dialogue with your office and the General Assembly on this issue. We agree that state agency budgets should accurately reflect actual expenditures to deliver services and fulfill statutory responsibilities. We call special attention to a few specific areas within the report:

- Low compensation is a major challenge and has become a key cause of long-term vacancies. This is true for every agency but especially in agencies with high-volume, lower-paying positions such as health care providers, correctional officers, and other public safety employees. It is also true for specialized roles in agencies such as engineers at DOT and DEQ and historic site curators at DNCR. In almost every case, state government is operating within a highly competitive local labor market. This manifests in stubbornly high vacancy rates due to lower acceptance rates among candidates, higher turnover, and continued reliance on temporary contract staff.
- Lack of a state budget and continual underfunding of agency operations does lead to overreliance on lapsed salary. For example, DAC notes that it uses lapsed salary for unfunded critical needs including temporary staff, equipment, medical costs, and food and clothing for those in its custody. Additional position abolishment without a corresponding increase in the agency's base budget would be detrimental to operations and would create significant safety risk.

Since taking office in January, our administration has been focused on recruiting and retaining talented people into careers in state government and tackling the issue of vacancies head-on. We acknowledge that HR and hiring processes need significant improvement, and we are taking action:

- OSHR is redrafting our State HR Act to improve talent recruitment and management across the state workforce.
- DHHS has abolished more than 520 positions to raise compensation for key hard-to-fill positions (e.g., nursing, health care technicians) and will evaluate additional opportunities to consolidate positions to improve salaries while maintaining appropriate safety and clinical quality. DAC has abolished 1,564 positions in order to support critical operating costs. Yet both agencies stress that position abolishment alone will not result in a sustainable workforce model and could create significant safety and quality risk if not done with appropriate care.
- DNCR and DIT have undergone position-by-position reviews to ensure alignment with strategic workforce needs and create better career pathways for state employment.
- When agencies have been appropriated additional positions, we have moved swiftly. For example, NCDMV hired 64 examiners within 30 days of authorization to hire.

We believe the substantial degree of work that state agencies have already undertaken to tackle vacancies demonstrates the seriousness with which our administration approaches the issue analyzed by this draft report. Unfortunately, the significant inaccuracies in this analysis render it inappropriate as a basis for comprehensive, long-term reforms to the appropriations and budgetary processes that undergird our state government's ability to function. We encourage OSA to extend the timeline for this report's release and engage in the meaningful and constructive dialogue needed to ensure state agencies, the General Assembly, and the public have an accurate and comprehensive understanding of this issue and appropriate recommendations as to how best to ensure maximum public value to the taxpayer.

Sincerely,

Seth Dearmin

Dear Auditor Boliek:

I am writing to respond to the draft DAVE Act Report you shared with my Office on December 22.

Effective September 1, 2025, OSC eliminated the two full time positions referenced in your report. Abolished positions include 65025212 (State Controller Financial Manager) and 65029800 (State Controller Financial Specialist I) which were budgeted in budget code 24160, our special fund non-reverting budget code. These positions were originally established in 2018 as part of the information technology project to replace the NC State Accounting System with the NC Financial System.

In October 2023, my office successfully completed NCFS on time and on budget. By holding these positions vacant, we have been able to redirect savings to support IT contractors who do not require state employee benefits and long term pension obligations. For example, my office utilized a portion of these savings to add powerful new system functionality called Oracle Analytics Cloud which improves budget, forecasting and financial analysis of state financial resources. This new analytical reporting tool was requested by General Assembly Fiscal Research Division and OSBM budget staff.

This is only one example of OSC's track record of fiscal conservatism and professional delivery of technology solutions that improve government efficiency and accountability. With effective executive management, state agencies and offices can use vacant position savings to actually reduce turnover, retain high performing employees and support innovation in the delivery of public services.

Respectfully submitted,

Nels C. Roseland

Re: Response of the North Carolina State Bureau of Investigation (SBI)
To DAVE Act Report Optional Response

Dear Mr. Boliek,

I appreciate the opportunity to review your drafted report and provide a response to you and your office. To reiterate from our originally submitted narrative, although the state of the SBI has significantly improved since I took office on November 20, 2024, the road since separating from the Department of Public Safety has been very challenging with the change in administration, key staff turnover, and lack of funding. As originally communicated, we have implemented several controls, hired a CFO and HR Director, and are working closely with the General Assembly to address staffing shortages and provide more critical positions for our agency.

Regarding the DAVE Act Report, we would like to reply to the following points:

1) On page 27, the SBI is rather high on the list of agencies with 10.3% of the workforce that is long term vacant (more than 6 months). The agencies with higher percentages are much larger agencies. We explained in our initial response why this is the case, however, the draft report did not include our explanation.

2) On page 35, it is indicated that the SBI plans to eliminate an HR Technician I position. We do not plan to eliminate any positions; however, this position is on hold because it was specifically named in the Senate budget for elimination this year which we noted on the spreadsheet. We have been told by OSBM and OSHR that we are not permitted to fill any vacancies that are specifically named for elimination in either budget.

3) On pages 63-64, the report states that we have 7 positions that are unfilled due to low compensation. We feel that number should be larger; by our count, 21 positions have low compensation/funding concerns which has prevented us from filling them.

4) Regarding the first sentence at the top of page 69, "State agencies have not posted 1,916 of 8,846 (22%) long-term vacancies, signaling a lack of intent to fill these positions and, in some cases, the State agencies' intent to generate lapsed salary." In the associated chart, the SBI was listed as 22 out of 51 long term vacancies never posted and 21 out of 51 vacancies never posted without reason. We have not intentionally held positions open because we didn't plan to fill or to generate lapse. The majority of our vacancies are due to lack of resources, administrative bandwidth to post, or lack of funding to fill or reclassify.

5) Finally, in the State Bureau of Investigation- Cleaned Data spreadsheet, some of our original submissions do not match the internal category/external category selections. Most notably, we could not tell if the position has been held due to potential Senate or House budget elimination, the categories have been selected as "Purposefully Vacant", "Administrative Lag", and "Low Compensation". There was no standardized category for the required holding of vacancies. Here are the inconsistencies seen in category selection:

a. Position # 6001488- this position was reallocated and posted. Category should be Reclassified Position.

b. Position # 60010145- this position is not planned for elimination. This is the only position specifically named for elimination in the Senate budget for the SBI. It is still needed and had been recruited for prior. If released from hold, we would immediately restart recruitment.

c. Position # 60010889- this position has been filled- the person started 10/13/2025.

d. Position # 60010941- this position is on hold for potential budget cuts by legislature as directed by OSBM- categories selected as "Purposefully Vacant".

e. Position # 60011080- this position is on hold for potential budget cuts by legislature as directed by OSBM- categories selected as "Purposefully Vacant"

f. Position # 60011112- this position needs to be reclassified up to allow for competitive recruitment, but we lack the funding to do so. Categories should say "Reclassified position/Funding Concerns", not "Administrative Lag".

g. Position # 60011150- this position needs to be reclassified up to allow for competitive recruitment, but we lack the funding to do so. Categories should say "Reclassified position/Funding Concerns", not "Administrative Lag".

h. Position # 60011197- this position is on hold for potential budget cuts by legislature as directed by OSBM- categories selected as "Administrative Lag".

i. Position # 60011242- this position needs to be reclassified up to allow for competitive recruitment, but we lack the funding to do so. Categories should say "Reclassified position/Funding Concerns", not "Administrative Lag".

j. Position # 65039210- this position is on hold for potential budget cuts by legislature as directed by OSBM- categories selected as "Low Compensation"

k. Position # 65039217- this position is on hold for potential budget cuts by legislature as directed by OSBM- categories selected as "Low Compensation"

Again, I appreciate this opportunity to provide a response to your DAVE Act Report Draft. Please let me know if you need any additional information.

Sincerely,

R.E. "Chip" Hawley

Response from the Wildlife Resources Commission

North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission

M. Kyle Briggs, Executive Director

The Honorable Dave Boliek, State Auditor
Office of the State Auditor
20601 Mail Service Center
Raleigh, North Carolina 27699-0601

Dear State Auditor Boliek,

The North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission (NCWRC) appreciates the efforts put forth by the Office of the State Auditor (OSA) for this review as well as the opportunity to further clarify NCWRC's vacancies. In this review 21 positions were identified and defined as long-term (six months or more) vacancies by OSA. Of these vacancies, 14 (67%) are associated with NCWRC's Law Enforcement Division. Specifically, five of these positions are assigned recruit positions with the remaining nine positions being vacant field officer positions which are filled with recruits following their graduation from the NCWRC accredited Law Enforcement Academy[1] (Academy).

Due to the length of the Academy, long-term vacancies are necessitated for vacant field officer positions including those identified in this report. Additionally for efficiency purposes, the NCWRC only conducts the Academy on an annual basis, unless there are not enough vacancies or anticipated vacancies to justify the expense for the Academy. The NCWRC only fills recruit positions needed to satisfy the current and anticipated vacant field officer positions. This further results in long-term vacancies for recruit positions not filled and/or recruits who withdraw from the Academy, as well as field officer positions.

To effectively and efficiently advertise and fill the recruit positions for the Academy, all vacant positions are not posted. One posting is created and advertised for multiple (up to 35) vacant positions. This prevents duplication of applications for each posting, as well as allowing for a more streamlined assessment of applications and selection of recruits. As recruits are transferred into vacant field officer positions upon completion of the Academy, it negates the posting of each vacant field officer position.

NCWRC highly values its workforce and relies on these positions to be able to successfully fulfill NCWRC's mission. NCWRC continuously strives to responsibly utilize resources to benefit the State and to date have filled all long-term positions identified or are within the process of filling long-term positions with Recruits.

NCWRC thanks the State Auditor's Office for their time and dedication in conducting this review.

Sincerely,

M. Kyle Briggs, Executive Director
